VISITORS FLEEING RENO AFTER QUAKES

Ice Coats Highways, Streets

Two Injured As Car Skids

Sleet and freezing rain early today covered streets in Mansfield and highways in most parts of the state with a thin coat of ice, making travel hazardous.

The state patrol reported one traffic accident resulting in minor injuries and several "fender benders" caused by the icy roads.

A car driven by Mrs. Dorothy Mason, 40, of Ashland, skidded on the slippery pavement and overturned on State Route 603, approximately five miles southwest of Ashland, at 5:10 a. m. today, according to the state patrol.

Mrs. Mason suffered contusions of the forehead and abrasions of the right knee, patrolmen said. Her daughter, Shirley, 13, a passenger in the car, suffered lacerations of the finger.

Both were treated by an Ashland physician and released.

APPLY SALT

Twelve state highway department maintenance crews worked all morning salting the slippery roads and by noon they reported that nearly all major and secondary roads were clear.

Three city crews began salting operations at 7 a. m. today.

The weatherman said there would be snow flurries today followed by colder weather. Tomorrow will be fair with rising temperature, although it will not go above the freezing mark, the forecast said.

The mercury climbed to 48 in Mansfield yesterday at 2:30 p. m., but dropped rapidly to 26 at 8:30 a. m. today. The mercury stood at that point at noon.

About three-tenths of an inch of rain fell, some of it freezing as it fell.

Sub-zero weather extended over the north central states which were digging out of the snow storm which struck Tuesday and Wednesday. The cold line covered communities from northeastern Nebraska, across northern Iowa, southeastern Minnesota, central Wisconsin and northern lower Michigan.

The mercury dipped to 14 below at Norfolk, Neb., and Rochester, Minn. It was -13 at Pellston, Mich., and 10 below at La Crosse, Wis., and Sioux City, Ia. Falls of snow in the area measured from eight inches at Traverse City, Mich., and Rochester to from three to seven inches over other sections.

Farm Prices Take Drop

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The farmer isn't doing as well financially as he has been for the past six years.

"Parity ratio"—the yardstick for measuring farm prosperity—has dipped to the lowest level since September, 1942, the agriculture department announced late yesterday.

Parity ratio is based on the relation between prices farmers get for the things they sell and the prices of the things they buy. It includes an allowance for interest and taxes.

As of mid-December, the parity ratio stood at 109—one point higher than the September, 1942, figure. The December ratio was a drop of one point from mid-November, 13 points below January, 1948 and 24 points under the record high of 133 in October, 1946.

Columbus Area Milk Price Up

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The agriculture department revised the milk marketing agreement for the Columbus, Ohio, area yesterday.

It amended the Columbus order to provide minimum producer prices for class one and class two milk in January and February.

The class one minimum for January was set at $4.65 a hundred and the class two minimum was fixed at $4.40 a hunderd. Minimum prices for February are 22 cents a hundred higher than for January and the class one price in January will be about 1.5 cents a quart lower than the level in July of 1948.

SEE RAIL LAYOFFS

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A senior vice-president of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad says the entire rail industry will experience layoffs next year.

Europe's Rearming Proposed

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Proposals to re-arm non-communist Europe and to advance national defense were made today by Secretary of Defense Forrestal in the first "Report of the Secretary of Defense."

His major recommendations were:

1. That the U. S. help re-arm Europe. This was taken to mean that he supports the proposed north Atlantic defense alliance between the U. S., Britain, France and the low countries.

2. That he be given greater power to control and discipline the services under him—the army, navy and air force.

3. That a "radar fence" be built around the nation to warn of the possible approach of hostile aircraft.

Forrestal also pointed to numerous accomplishments of the armed services under unification. Among these accomplishments were:

1. Formulation of long-range and short-range overall strategic and tactical policies for the three services.

2. Combination of the military budgets of the three services into one defense budget.

3. Coordination of procurement efforts of the three services.

MASTER PLAN

4. Development of a master plan for civil defense.

5. Combination of the air force and naval air transport services into the military air transport service.

The defense secretary declared that the widest differences in opinion in the defense department exist between the air force and the navy.

He blamed much of this on the need for inter-service competition for funds under budget limitations, and lack of understanding of each other's operations and activity.

Barkley En Route Home From Europe

PARIS—(INS)—Vice President-Elect Sen. Alben W. Barkley is on his way back to the United States today after a visit to Europe.

Barkley left Paris aboard a U. S. Air Force transport plane last night and is due in Washington this afternoon.

GOP Maps Strategy

WASHINGTON —(AP) — Old line leaders of senate Republicans and a band of younger insurgents meet today in rival strategy sessions.

Amid some secrecy, Senators Ives of New York and Morse of Oregon invited other self-styled GOP liberals to a closed-door discussion, time and place unannounced.

Still smarting under the party's November defeat, this group is determined to have a bigger say on party policies during the new congress which meets Monday with Republicans in the minority.

Senator Taft of Ohio, meanwhile, called the "regulars" together for a 2 p. m. (EST) meeting—its only announced purpose to map plans for tomorrow's final session of the 80th congress.

Parishioner's Plaint Heeded

DAYTON—(AP)—"I can't come to church because the benches are too hard for me to sit on through an entire service," a parishioner told the Rev. James Thomas of the South Park Methodist church a few months ago.

So, today workmen began installing 160 new theater-type seats with rounded backs and air cushions in the church, one of the city's largest.

The Reverend Thomas wrote the man telling about the new seats and "Now I expect to see at least one more member in church next Sunday."

Inauguration Date Set For Tom Dewey

FREMONT—(UP)—Tom Dewey will be inaugurated here Monday—but it will not be Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Thomas F. Dewey, Clyde, O., will be sworn in as Sandusky county prosecutor.

AMVETS MEET

The Amvets will hold a special meeting today at 10 p. m. in the Amvet club rooms, it was announced today.

Aides Worry; Truman Sleeps As Plane Makes Blind Landing

(Compiled From Wire Services)

WASHINGTON—The young army technician squinted at his radar scope and told the President's plane, "You're at 500 feet—start normal descent."

This was yesterday afternoon at fog-shrouded National airport here as Mr. Truman was returning from a Christmas stay in Missouri. The President, aboard his DEC-6 Independence, was moving slowly down through a layer of soupy weather.

It was the first time the President, an avid flying fan, has been landed by ground control approach, a radar landing system.

The big flying White House, flying blind and completely on instruments, swooped down through the swirling fog to a perfect landing at 3:10 p. m. Lt. Col. Francis Williams, the President's pilot, called it a "routine instrument landing."

At the time of the landing, visibility was down to one-eighth of a mile and the ceiling was 1,000 feet or less. A few minutes after the ship was on the ground and the President was motoring to the White House, the fog was so bad that it slowed auto traffic on the highways along the Potomac river which borders the airport.

Up at 10,000 feet the weather was fine. But landing planes had to reach the field through a thick layer of soup. There were planes in the traffic "stack" which needed to land sooner than the President's powerful ship.

Consequently, the Independence circled the field for 45 minutes before coming in for the instrument landing.

Members of the President's staff and some of his close political associates spent an anxious hour at the side of the airfield, peering into the thickening weather and wondering whether the "boss" would land at Washington or some alternate airport.

Inside the military air transport terminal, air force men huddled around radios, listening to the Independence being talked down through the weather.

When the big plane splashed up to the military air transport service terminal through the fog and rain, the President seemed to be the most unconcerned man on the field.

TRUMAN SLEPT

Sen. J. Howard McGrath, D., R. I., the Democratic national chairman, rushed up to shake the President's hand.

"You gave us a bad hour," Mr. President," McGrath said.

"Shucks," the President answered, "I was asleep and didn't know about it."

Thomas E. Breznay, ex-air force sergeant who landed the plane by GCA (ground-control approach) said:

"I knew it was the President's plane as soon as the tower gave me the number. I've known that number for a long time. I knew that Mr. Truman was aboard, too, because I knew he was flying back to Washington from Missouri. I've never seen the President, but I felt awfully close to him at that moment.

"Honestly, I can't remember if I was nervous or not. All I thought of was that we offer our best assistance to all aircraft and this was a pretty special aircraft."

TALKED-IN—The President slept through it all!

Pope Acts On Arrests

Hungarians Excommunicated

ROME — (INS) — Pope Pius XII formally excommunicated today all Hungarian Catholics responsible for the arrest of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic primate of Hungary.

The papal decree invoked the gravest sanctions of the church not only against those who ordered the arrest, but also against all who shared in fomenting "the campaign of hate" which led to his imprisonment.

The pontiff acted as the College of Cardinals solemnly protested the communist-dominated Hungarian government's move against the prelate.

Excommunication automatically places all who shared in the government's campaign against the primate outside the pale of the church.

They may no longer receive any of the sacraments, may not be buried in a holy graveyard, and are denied all the rites of the church.

Republicans 'Duck' Jobs

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Republicans want no part of the responsibility of running the incoming 98th Ohio General assembly.

Republican leaders indicated today, that, even if some disgruntled Democrats bolt their party in voting for house speaker and president pro tempore of the Senate, the republicans are not interested in the jobs.

Organization of the assembly is scheduled for Monday, when the legislature convenes.

The GOP spokesmen said that the Democrats were voted into the majority and should bear the full responsibility of leadership and of working with a Democratic governor.

Actress Reported Seriously Ill

LONDON—(U.P.)— Movie actress Ann Sheridan is so seriously ill with pleurisy at her Savoy hotel suite that she cannot be removed to a hospital, it was reported today.

Miss Sheridan collapsed on the set during the filming of "I Was a Male War Bride" 10 days ago and X-rays showed she was suffering from pleurisy with complications in one lung.

Report 18 Killed

BERLIN —(U.P.)— Western allied authorities said today they had received reports that a Soviet general and 17 other persons were killed when the Berlin-Moscow express was derailed near Warsaw last Friday.

City Plans Big '49 Welcome

Cost of Revelry To Be Down a Little

Mansfielders who are going to ring in the new year tomorrow night are likely to find the bill for their celebrations a trifle lower than last year's.

A survey of proprietors of hotels, bars, and nightclubs reveals the prices of liquor and food won't be any higher than any other night.

Most of the night spots, however, will add a cover charge. They will give favors, noisemakers and hats free.

Celebrants who prefer to hail the new year from a theater seat will find the four movie houses featuring midnight shows. Three of them will have a change of program New Year's eve.

The Madison will show "Words and Music." At the Ohio will be a special advance premiere of the "Adventures of Don Juan." The Park will show a double bill for the late program with "The Plunderers" and "Music Man." The Ritz also will present a double feature with "L'il Abner" and "Bowery Champs."

Two downtown night clubs will offer floor shows. The Greystone will feature Ralph Whipp, a native Mansfielder who has been dancing in a New York show. The Ringside will present acts featuring Willie Kaima and his orchestra. Both of these clubs will levy a cover charge and will provide noisemakers.

ASK RESERVATIONS

The proprietors of most of the downtown bars are following a policy of "first come, first served." On the other hand the places on the outskirts of the city are accepting reservations. They report more than half the available accommodations have been reserved. They expect to be sold out by tomorrow night.

The Mansfield-Leland hotel will feature Ruth Isham at the piano. The Southern and Fairview cocktail lounges will provide noisemakers and hats.

The Sky club is featuring a band. A buffet with cold cuts and hot treats will be served. The Mifflin Inn will serve dinners late into the night with the traditional sauerkraut included.

Richland Recreation is sporting two bands for the evening and a dinner. Admission is by advance reservation only. The Catalina night club will feature Lin Armstrong and his orchestra.

In addition to the commercial spots many of the city's private clubs and fraternal groups are holding New Year's parties. "Auld Lang Syne" will ring out at parties in private homes.

Dutch Take Oil Center

BATAVIA — (U.P.) — Dutch air forces have captured the rich Djambi oil district in south central Sumatra, Dutch army headquarters said today.

The area was invaded yesterday and now is fully under control, the announcement said.

Djambi is about 125 miles north of Palembang, big port in south Sumatra. The announcement said only negligible damage was caused by a few fires before the district was captured.

Djambi was believed by some sources to be the site of the republican provisional emergency government. However, Dutch headquarters failed to indicate whether any political prisoners were taken there.

Chiang In Grim Talks

Peace Feelers Are Hinted

NANKING — (INS) — President Chiang Kai-Shek began urgent consultations today with his regional commanders to determine whether nationalist China will yield to the communists or continue the civil war.

The Generalissimo, whose own political future was at stake, sought the counsel of his highest aides against a background of division within his government on the fateful question of seeking peace with the Reds.

Chiang's premier, Sun Fo, was reliably reported already to have launched a peace bid in the face of opposition by a pro-war faction in the Kuomintang (Nationalist party).

Sun was said to have dispatched Hsu Shih-Ying, former chairman of China's commission for Mongolian and Tibetan affairs, to Hong Kong to contact the anti-Chiang exiles' group of "reformists."

Through Li Chi-Sen, head of the group in the British crown colony on the south China coast, Hsu was reported seeking intermediary action looking toward the opening of peace talks between the nationalist Nanking regime and the communists.

Chiang's voluntary retirement from the position of power he has held for two decades was believed one of the principal topics of his talks with the regional chieftains he summoned to Nanking.

Ice at Parks Called Unsafe

The ice at Liberty and North Lake parks will not be safe for skating tonight. Frank Burton, park superintendent, said today.

He added that if the mercury remains below the freezing mark today and tomorrow, the lights will be turned on for the hardy skating enthusiasts who want to skate on New Year's eve.

3 Business Properties Figure In Will

A life estate in his share of three valuable Mansfield properties was left to his sister, Mary E. Blymyer, by George W. Blymyer jr., of Mansfield, who died Dec. 12, his will showed today.

Balance of the estate was left to his wife, Mrs. Marguerite Johnson Blymyer, of Middleton, Ga. Two of the properties will pass to her.

Estimate of the estate was put at $150,000 in personal property, $90,000 in real estate, and an annual income of $6,000 from rentals.

Mr. Blymyer's will stipulates that a life interest in his one-half share in the property at 57-59 North Main street, occupied by the W. T. Grant store, go to his sister, Mary E. Blymyer, of Southern Pines, S. C., and on her death, to his widow.

Also left to the sister was a life interest in his share of the filling station property at Park avenue west and Mulberry street, which on her death is to go to his widow. He owned one-third interest.

His one-sixth interest in the Kresge building, 17 North Main street, also was left to his sister for life. However, the will stipulates that the share may be purchased for $20,833 by William M. Weldon jr.

Uless he purchases the property, it will pass on to Robert B., Donald S. and Roger A. Black, one-sixth interest; Mrs. Eleanor B. Draffan, Reid C. Black and Mrs. Elizabeth B. Hanson, one-sixth; B. F. Blymyer, of Wilmette, Ill., one-sixth; Mrs. Sarah B. Weldon, one-sixth; Will B. Morris, of Columbus, and Mrs. Sam Terry, of Berkeley, Calif., one-sixth; and Mrs. J. J. Siddall, of Wilmette, Ill., one-sixth.

The will also provided that $5,000 go to a cousin, Miss Josephine Cook, of Columbus; $5,000 to Mrs. Miriam Hedges Smith, of Laguna Beach, Calif., and $3,000 to Frank Blymyer, of Clarenden Hills, Ill.

The will was dated May 11, 1944, and the Central Bank of Cleveland was named executor of the estate.

Passenger Moves Back; And Down!

CLEVELAND—(INS) — A Cleveland bus rider went to police today with a tale of a transit system bus driver who apparently believes in helping his passengers "move to the rear, please," — helping them, that is, with haymakers.

Joseph Hejduk, 31, told authorities that when he fumbled with his fare upon boarding a bus yesterday, the driver told him to "get back or I'll push you back." With that, he charged, the driver came up swinging and knocked him down.

Eighteen stitches were required to close Hejduk's head and cheek lacerations.

Gov. Herbert Refuses To Save Daniels

Upholds Decision Of Parole Board

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today refused to grant clemency to Robert Murl Daniels, 24, former Mansfield reformatory inmate, who is scheduled to die in the Ohio penitentiary electric chair Monday night.

Gov. Herbert said he agreed with the state Pardon and Parole commission in refusing clemency to Daniels, who was convicted of the brutal cornfield slayings of John E. Niebel, reformatory farm superintendent, his wife, Nolana, and daughter, Phyllis, last July 21.

The commission held a clemency hearing for Daniels last week. The governor said the commission ruled against granting clemency to Daniels, who with his partner in crime, John C. West, shot six persons to death in a July crime spree.

Daniels was captured and West was killed in a gun battle with officers at a road block near Van Wert.

Daniels was sentenced to death following a sensational trial in September in Richland county common pleas court. His family contended he had suffered a head injury as a boy and was not always responsible for his behavior.

The family won a clemency hearing Dec. 21 after reporting new evidence had been uncovered to show West had bragged to a motorist he shot the Niebels.

However, Richland County Prosecutor Theodore Lutz, who attended the clemency hearing, said nothing was offered that had not been considered at the trial before three judges in Mansfield.

Association Picks 10 Best 'Undressed'

HOLLYWOOD, — (UP) — The Swim Suit Manufacturers of America today announced their list of the nation's 10 "best undressed" women.

"What the average man wants is a good look at the basic woman underneath those long skirts and flowing coats," Scott Fitzpatrick, secretary of the association, declared.

Olympic athletes figured prominently among the 10 with diver Vicki Draves and swimmer Zoe Anne Olson receiving mention as did Esther Williams, screen star and former diving champion.

Movie stars Virginia Mayo, Janis Paige, Jane Russell and Betty Grable were selected for their whistle-provoking figures. Other choices were Natalie Krassovska, ballerina; Chryssise De LaGrange, circus aerialist, and Rose La Rose, burlesque dancer.

Air Search Speeds Up

MIAMI, —(AP)— Military aircraft winged over hundreds of miles of rugged Cuban coastline today following an unconfirmed report that survivors of a missing charter plane had been sighted on a beach.

Coast Guard officers directing the widespread aerial search said they had "absolutely nothing to authenticate or verify" the report, but every effort is being made to scan every inch of coast on the offchance the report may be correct.

The report, which was transmitted from the New York headquarters of the Coast Guard yesterday, said: "Unconfirmed report survivors sighted on Cuban coast."

"It's a pretty slim lead," said one Coast Guard officer, "we can't afford to pass it up. But it's an awful long shot."

Major Temblor Feared

Scientists Are Mystified

RENO, Nev.—(UP)—Many visitors left this famed divorce and gambling colony today in the fear that the temblor-shaken city may be due for a major earthquake.

Scientists admitted they were mystified by the tremors which have been jiggling their seismographs at intervals of a few minutes all week. One authority said "anything could happen."

Hotel and airline, train and bus companies reported an abnormally high rate of departures from "the biggest little city in the world," which since Monday has been shaken by a series of minor temblors.

Long-time-residents of this city of 30,000 and habitues of the town's numerous gambling casinos refused to be panicked by fears of a major earthquake.

GAMBLERS JUST PAUSE

When the sharpest of more than 30 recent shocks shook the city yesterday, gamblers stopped playing long enough to pick up the stacks of silver dollars which tumbled to the floor and then went back to their dice games and roulette wheels.

So far the widespread shocks, shaking the earth in western Nevada and northern California, had caused only minor damage and no loss of life.

Geologists said seimologists would not predict that the series of temblors — which have been causing minor jolts at almost hourly intervals since Monday night—was a forerunner of a major quake.

SCIENTISTS PUZZLED

But Professor Vincent Gianella, seismologist at the University of Nevada, said "This activity is very unusual. We've never had such an epidemic of shocks before that I know of."

"We don't know what to think of it."

Yesterday's quake was of sufficient force to have caused widespread damage in a heavily-populated area, seismologists said. Its center was about 12 miles from Reno and little Verdi bore the brunt of it.

Brick corners in the schoolyard at Verdi tumbled down, the wall of one building collapsed and overall damage, mostly in broken glassware, was estimated at several thousand dollars.

Welcome Delayed

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Bad weather today prevented the flight to New York of the air force rescue pilot and five of the stranded airmen he picked off the Greenland icecap.

The daring pilot, Lt. Col. Emil Beaudry, and the other men were originally scheduled to fly from Goose Bay, Labrador, to New York today for a hero's welcome.

Announcement of the flight postponement came from Lieut. Jack McCauley, air force headquarters spokesman.

McCauley disclosed that the seven other flyers who were marooned on the icecap have decided to remain at their station in Greenland and will not come to the United States.

Five of these have families at Greenland and will spend quiet leaves with their loved ones.

McCauley's announcement was made at the Westover Air Base, Mass., where he was dispatched from headquarters in Washington to help handle details on the airmen.

Flying to New York are Lt. Col. Emil G. Beaudry, who daringly rescued the flyers, two of the seven men who crash-landed on the icecap Dec. 9, and three glider pilots who were marooned there in unsuccessful rescue attempts.

The men will be flown to New York in a B-54 transport piloted by Capt. George Wood of the Alaska air command, aided by a crew of four. The plane is the same one Capt. Wood had used in the unsuccessful attempts to rescue the marooned airmen.

STUCK WITH LIQUOR

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The incoming state administration will have on its hands 39,000 cases of apparently unwanted liquor. Four attempts to sell a surplus stock of 175,000 cases left the state liquor department with the well-sized remainder at the end of the year.

FUMES CLAIM ONE

DAYTON —(AP)— Hulet Miles, 36, died yesterday in bed and a coroner's verdict attributed death to a gas heater burning all the oxygen out of his room.

Annual Let Down In America Seen Essential as Man's Safety Valve

NEW YORK—This is the anuual lost week of mankind—the week of the big let down.

I mean, of course, in America.

It is during this week that America is in a big essential sense the least like a foreigner would expect.

He would come here prepared to find the wealthiest people in the wealthiest nation—a nation that has spread its wealth deeper and farther among more people than any of the other so-named civilized nations—geared to the machine.

But he would find that these people are out of tune with the machine. Their pulse has lost the tempo. He would find — this foreign visitor—that this is the week when the vast mechanism that is America slows down.

It is the time when the "circuit breaker" operates. It also could be called in the language of Detroit "mental retooling week."

It comes always at the same time—the week between Christmas and the New Year.

It is the time when the slowdown of the production output is only partly measured by the holidays men take from their jobs.

Neither can it be measured by the extra alcohol that some consume nor by the extra days that they take away from their tasks. In addition, in many cases, to their regular holidays.

There is a human factor that cannot be shown accurately on any chart or graph. This is the adjustment that takes place in their souls at the annual season of good will.

It is the time of letdown. It is the rest period that any productive equipment, man or metal, must have—else it collapses.

Certainly it is a strange and mixed time, confusing beyond any other period. For it is in this week that a man, relaxed by a feeling of well being, looks toward the goals his race could really achieve—by living nearer to his religion all year round.

It is also, unfortunately, the time when many new annual business contracts are let, contracts that determine the year ahead. Many old men who have run the machine—their own particular machine—are quietly given their walking papers. The newspapers are full of details of new promotions. But for most promotions there is a heartbreak—as well as a heart leap.

Somebody gains...somebody loses...and either 'way a man wants to keep the lights shining on his Christmas tree just a few more days.

The big man, the middle man, the small man—Papa Bear Mama Bear, Baby Bear—they all are prisoners. They are victims of a new failure or a strange success, something to make them live differently. The new year always has a fresh burden or responsibility to be shouldered.

It isn't a bad thing at all—this letdown. Every system has to permit it. Even in the cycle of the stars the astronomers allow for—a leap year. Man is a creature that has to leap sometime, too.

Christmas is only the small opening in a closed circle the world will open wider as it wisens.

2 Suspects In Burglary Bound Over

Held To Jury In Camera Thefts

Two Mansfield men were bound over to the grand jury today on charges growing out of the Christman Eve theft of $487 worth of photographic equipment from the Perez-Smucker Studio, 45 North Mulberry street.

Kenneth W. Rodgers of Trailer City, pleaded innocent to a charge of breaking and enterind and was held under $2,000 bond.

Glen R. Jacobs of the DeSoto hotel, pleaded innocent to a charge of receiving stolen property and was held under $1,000.

CHARGES LISTED

The affidavit against Rodgers charged he stole a 35 mm. Kodak worth $30.88; a Franklin movie camera, $77.68; a Crown Graphic, $132.25; a Cine-Kodak movie camera, $100; a Filmo movie camera, $51.33; a Kodak tourist camera, $28.71; a Revere 8 mm. movie camera, $46.82 and a Weston exposure meter, $19.78.

Police said all of the stolen property had been recovered.

The burglary at the photographic studio was discovered by police while on routine patrol early Christmas day. The pair was arrested later in the day.

In other cases, Jay W. Cannon, 253½ North Main street, pleaded innocent to an assault and battery charge brought by Opal Barker, 171 Orange street. Hearing was set for tomorrow and a bond of $1,000 was set.

Jeanne Adams, 957 Herring avenue, pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to yield they right-of-way. She was fined $10 and costs. The fine was suspended.

In traffic court yesterday, $10 fines were assessed against Richard Anderson, 188 Cleveland avenue, for unsafe operation, and Arnold Murry of Ontario for speeding.

Mrs. Frank Durham surveys the wreckage wrought by an earthquake which struck the town of Verdi, Nev., yesterday, knocking down walls, breaking windows and spilling canned goods off shelves. The shocks, apparently centering at Reno, Nev., extended through the Sierra into northern California as far west as San Francisco and as far south as Fresno in the San Joaquin valley.—(AP Wirephoto)

Sheriff Holds Six Following Robbery

A 28-year-old Indiana man was beaten and left unconscious on a road near Lucas last night after he was robbed of his wallet containing $20 and some change.

The victim was identified by sheriff's deputies as Robert Harris, 28, of Terre Haute, Ind., who had arrived in Mansfield yesterday and taken a job. Deputies are holding six men in connection with the attack.

Harris told deputies he met four men in a night club last night and from there he left with them for another tavern. However, instead of going there, the driver continued to a point near Lucas.

LEFT UNCONSCIOUS

There, Harris told deputies, he was taken out of the car, beaten up and kicked and left unconscious. A passing motorist called the Byerly funeral home of Lucas, which sent out an ambulance. Harris was treated by a Lucas physician for cuts and bruises.

After getting a description of his assailants from Harris, Deputies Harold Marvin and Charles Wheeler apprehended four men at a tavern. Later, they apprehended two more who arrived at the tavern. Harris said there were two soldiers with him.

Deputies said there was one soldier in the first group of four they picked up and one soldier in the second group of two they apprehended. Deputies said Harris' wallet was found in one of two cars used by the suspects.

Lodges, Vets Clubs To Greet New Year

Most Mansfield lodges and veterans' organizations will hold open houses New Year's day.

At the Masonic Temple, members are expected to gather for their annual oyster buffet. Open house there will start at 2 p. m. and continue into the evening. There will be music by the Masonic orchestra, and refreshments.

A stag smoker and an oyster supper will entertain members of the Knights of Pythias at their hall, Fourth and Main streets. During the evening, Fred Proctor, incoming chancellor commander, is expected to outline his plans for the year.

Open house at the Elks club will start at noon. During the afternoon there will be refreshments and informal entertainment. The regular Elks New Year's dance will entertain members and their friends Friday evening.

A fish supper will be served for members of the Eagles from 2 to 5 p. m. New Year's day. A party and a floor show will entertain the lodge New Year's eve with Miller's "Happy Jacks" playing for dancing.

The American Legion club, Park avenue west, will be open all afternoon New Year's day. There will be a buffet luncheon with cards and a smoker. Steven Robert Dickerson is chairman of all New Year's activities. He has planned a dance for New Year's eve with all the usual noise-making gadgets, dancing and music.

A New Year's eve ball has been arranged for members of the Knights of Columbus and their friends. Dancing will start at 10 and continue until 2 a. m., with entertainment interspersing the dance program.

On New Year's day, a sauer kraut dinner will be served at 5 p. m. and the home on Sherman avenue will be open all afternoon.

Sees Slight Depression

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A New York life insurance company executive told a meeting of the American Statistical association last night that a 1949 business decline is in prospect.

Donald B. Woodward, vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, said:

"This decline will be sufficiently limited so that most Americans will know of it only from their newspapers and not from personal experience."

But in the following year, he added, the downward move would assume serious proportions.

Russell Weisman, associate editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, told the statisticians "most of the forces of the boom of the last three years have spent themselves. Easy money has run out."

Dems Study Applicants

The Richland County Democratic executive committee will meet today at 8 p. m. in Common Pleas courtroom to make endorsements for county jobs.

Their endorsements will include those for positions under the control of the county commissioners' office, deputies in the sheriff's department, and an assistant stenographer in the prosecutor's office.

WHICH ONE?

The Mansfield post office is trying to find out which Hunter family sent a Christmas remembrance to a mail carrier. An envelope addressed simply "to our mailman, wishing him a merry Christmas from the Hunters," was received at the post office Dec. 22. Since there are a number of Hunter families in Mansfield on various routes, the post office doesn't know which carrier the envelope was intended for. If the Hunters who sent the envelope will contact the post office, the envelope will be delivered to the proper carrier.

OFFERS PROOF—

There are no "ifs, ands, or buts" in this matter. Early this week, a High street woman signed an affidavit charging her husband with assault and battery. The case was continued several times. Yesterday, the woman appeared at the Municipal court office and told Paul Ritchie, court clerk, that she wanted to drop the charges inasmuch as she intended to get a divorce to settle the fighting once and for all. "I am absolutely through with marriage," she said. And to prove it, she took out her marriage license and tore it to shreds!

Air Mail Cost Up One Cent

Parcel Post Charges Boosted

Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford said increased postage rates and special service fees, authorized by the 80th Congress, will go into effect at 12:01 a. m. Jan. 1.

The major changes are in domestic air mail and 2third class mail rates.

Rates for domestic air mail up to eight ounces will be increased from five to six cents per ounce. A new rate of four cents for air mail postal cards or private mailing cards will become effective.

Until the new four-cent air mail card is available, the present one-cent card may be used by placing on it the words "air mail" and affixing three cents additional postage, Ford said.

UP HALF CENT

The new rate for third class mail is two cents for the first two ounces or fraction thereof, plus one cent for each additional ounce or fraction thereof, up to eight ounces. After eight ounces the mail becomes fourth class or parcel post. The present rate for third class mail is one and one-half cents for the first two ounces or fraction thereof.

Individuals and firms having metered, non-metered, or precancelled permits will be required to pay a $10 bulk mailing fee for each calendar year.

The new schedule also shows increased rates for the following: fourth class or parcel post, catalogs, books, library books, special delivery, special handling, money orders, postal notes, registered mail COD's, and insured mail.

Detailed information on these rate changes may be obtained at the post office.

Traces 1948 News Wherein Nazi, Fascist Elements Scored Wins

TYPEWRITER DOODLING

No wonder everyone is looking forward to a happier New Year. Look at some of the things that happened during 1948. Ilse Koch of lampshade infamy had her life sentence commuted; Tojo of Pearl Harbor infamy got his execution postponed; pro-fascist Serge Lifar staged a recital at NY's City Center; pro-ditto Kirsten Flagstad played Carnazi Hall 5 days after Pearl Harbor's ann'y; and Dictator Franco was embraced by ex-New Dealer Jim Farley.

Hjalmar Schacht, who financed the Nazis, was exonerated by a denazification court as not being a Nazi; and to top it all, our allegedly most upright magazine, Time, was being edited by an ex-Communist!

Nothing as disgraceful as the un-American Committee's attempt to smear the good name of Laurence Duggan. That committee defames innocent and patriotic Americans—but hasn't done anything about the KKK. Shameful.

Because of the Whittaker Chambers affair, Henry Luce's "March of Time" had to recall its Christmas cards. The cards featured a globe of the world (with film strips protruding), and it looked like a pumpkin.

The holier-than-thou goons who feign horror at reporters who publish gossip fave us an opportunity to revive a statement that once appeared in a country weekly: "If you get born, marry, have a baby, die, or some other accident happens to you, please let us know—not that we give a darn, but most of our readers have a lot of curiosity." That explains our position expertly.

The news photo showing a 19-year-old refugee weeping with joy when he arrived in the USA strummed the heartstrings. His mother, father, two brothers and two sisters were murdered at Buchenwald. The photo should contain this grim thought: Yet Ilse Koch had her sentence commuted!

The pig-tailed darling in the film, "Enchantment," named Gigi Perreau, is the most lovable and talented moppet to hit the screen since Margaret O'Brien cuddled up to your heart...Have a slice of lunacy: Leni Riefenstahl headed the Nazi film industry. She was Hitler's "honey." But a denazification court acquitted her—higher salary before the Nazis rose to power. Sheer idiocy.

Front pages revealed France has built its first atomic pile—an important step toward concocting the A-bomb. But an item at the end of that story gives us shudders: The leader of atomic research in France—is a Communist.

Estate Set At $35,114

An inventory of the estate of the late L. H. Beam, Mansfield attorney, filed yesterday in Probate court, placed its value at $35,114.

Major part of the estate consisted of $32,042 in stocks and securities, including $13,680 of Mansfield Savings Trust National Bank stock and $7,112 worth of stock in the Mansfield Provident company.

Also listed was $2,968 in U. S. Savings bonds, and $46,695 in savings accounts, both of which were in the name of Mr. Beam and his wife.

These were listed for inheritance tax purposes and were not included in the inventory.

Mr. Beam's will left his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Lulu F. Beam, who was appointed administratrix of the estate with will annexed.

LIMA—We had planned to start the New Year being friends with everybody. . . . From our standpoint that should be a cinch. . . . But if any of our loyal readers follow the selections below anything might happen. . . . We've started using one of the Christmas stogies for pigskin prognostications and it's an untested piece of hemp. . . . So to help things along a bit we've asked Lou Gregorio, the all-around Senior high athlete, for a bit of assistance . . . Lou too is a bit skeptical about some of the contests . . . For says he, "I never heard of some of the teams" . . . We hadn't either as some of the teams and bowls themselves are as obscure as the reason for holding the games (if money can be called obscure) . . . All of the games should be close in the final tabulations but the way that Lean Lou and Fat Freddie see the result is anything but close . . . In fact the two "amateur" forecasters coincide on only nine of the 16 games.

Battle Host Lima Central Five Tonight

By FRED THARP

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

LIMA—Defeated by Greenfield McClain in the opening round of the fourth annual Lima basketball carnival, the Mansfield Senior high Tygers will try again for their fifth victory of the campaign against Lima Central tonight at 8:45.

Greenfield scored 11 straight points at the outset of the fourth quarter to build up a commanding lead and send the Bengals to their second defeat, 50 to 45. Findlay's defending state champions were forced to the limit to top the small Central combine to win last night's final, 45 to 37.

Findlay and Greenfield open tonight's program at 7:30.

Two factors contributed a great deal to the Mansfield loss. The Tygers were unable to hit from the court in the first quarter and Greenfield dropped in 14 of 24 free throws. Mansfield committed 22 personals, losing lanky Ed Schmitt late in the fourth quarter. McClain fouled only 14 times.

Mansfield did not connect but from the court until five minutes of the game had passed but after that the shooting picked up. The Tygers had 19 field goals to 18 for the winners.

Greenfield notched a 8-to-5 lead at the quarter and led at one time in the second heat, 22 to 9. The Tygers sliced the lead to 24-16 at the half. Little Jimmy Sellers, a surprise Greenfield star, ripped in six "unconscious" baskets in the first half.

He got only two shots from the court in the last half but made both of them.

Then in the third quarter Mansfield looked its true self. Norb Shibinski, Tyger center, and Glann Wiseman traded baskets. Shibinski and Schmitt each notched three points to cut the Greenfield lead to 26-24. Baxla hit a one-hander for the winners and Ken McCally, playing his first varsity game, duplicated for Mansfield.

Barr hit from the gratis line for Greenfield but Paul Ferguson pulled Mansfield to within one point with a sideline two-pointer. McCally hit a one-hander from far out to put Mansfield ahead for the first time, 30 to 29. The score was tied at the quarter, 32-32, and Wiseman and Jimmy Anderson traded fouls to open the fourth heat. Greenfield immediately picked up the fatal 11 points and the game. However, three baskets in a row by McCally, A. C. Jenkins and Shibinski did pare the lead at the finish.

The small Lima floor bothered the Tygers no end but Shibinski managed to grab high-point honors with 19. Sellers ended up with 18.

Lima will be favored over the Tygers tonight on the strength of its fine showing against Findlay. The Dragons scored five points more against the Trojans than any team has done in five previous games. Xenia Central could score only 32 in winning over Findlay.

Findlay led by periods 18 to 8, 26 to 19 and 40 to 26. However, Lima cut the lead to 26-23 At one stage of the third quarter All-Ohio footballer Jim Adler got all six of his points.

The Trojans averaged a bit over 6-2 while Central checked in at 5-9. In the first half Central made eight field goals to seven for Findlay. Bill Wisner, 6-4 guard, led Findlay with 25 points.

Calumet Farm Takes Honors

NEW YORK — (AP) — Calumet farm, thanks to Citation, galloped off with leading owner honors for the 1948 New York racing season, while Hirsch Jacobs topped the trainers and Ted Atkinson headed the jockeys.

Citation's spectacular performance—the colt started only four times in New York and collected $246,200 for Owner Warren Wright — overshadowed this section of the state racing commission's annual report released today.

In leading the jockey standings, Atkinson set the first million-dollar mark in earnings in a single season in New York. Toronto Teddy had 1,018 mounts, won with 198 and earned $1,164,412.

Eddie Arcaro, who piloted Citation in all his major races, had only 435 New York mounts, winning with 108. His horses won $824,487 in New York.

The San Francisco '49ers of the All-Aemrica Conference this season went through an entire game with New York without receiving a kickoff.

Manager Is Boss At Colony Alleys

Colony Manager Art Hilborn demonstrated just how to master his alleys last night as he led City A leaguers with a 237-185-223—645 score. Art rolled with the league-leading Bissman's team which won two of three games to tighten its grip on first place.

Ten pins behind Hilborn was Joe Lain who turned in three straight games over 200 for a 635. He had 225, 209, and 201. Ed Miller of Dr. Pepper combined scores of 222, 196, and 182 for an even 600 effort.

Not far off the pace was Charles Englehorn who had 598, C. Phillipon, 588, and Floyd Messmore, 585.

★

Don Bachman led Victory leaguers with 214-222-151 — 587. He was followed by Harold Johnson, 531, Harlow Hesson, 530, and Earl Turner, 502.

★

At Richland Recreation two leagues were in action. Jerry Dillon led St. Peter's Alumni with 517 while Evelyn Marshman set the pace in the Richland Ladies with 506. She was trailed by Peg Shoup, 481, and Lil LeMunyon, 461.

East All-Stars Reveal Lineup

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The east and west Shrine teams tapered off today in work for their New Year's day football clash—tapered off, that is, in comparison to what they've been going through the past 10 days.

But USC Coach Jeff Cravath, head mentor of the west, said he was displeased with the condition of his team. He said the men had overcharged the Christmas feed bag and they'd have to keep on working up seat from here on out.

And, in the backfield:

Fans All Eyes For Justice In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— Charlie Justice will have an extra incentive to display his all-America greatness in the Sugar Bowl New Year's day. He'll be trying to rub out the memory of a thwarted effort there two years ago.

On Jan. 1, 1947, Justice and his North Carolina Tar Heels lined up for the annual classic against Georgia's bulldogs. The assembled multitude was breathless in expectation of a duel between Justice and Georgia's all-American Charlie Trippi.

But the spectacular show didn't come off. The fancy halfbacks spent much of the afternoon buried under swarms of opposing linemen.

Justice, particularly, was slowed to a creep. In 17 trips with the ball he netted only 31 yards. An overshifted Georgia line piled up almost every Carolina strong side play. Trippi did a little better, 54 yards in 14 attempts.

MUCH IMPROVED

The Carolina Choo Choo is a much improved player now, judging by all reports reaching here.

His rushing average this year was 5.2, very impressive for a player marked by every opponent. He scored eleven touchdowns, two on punt returns.

Justice has hurled 122 times for 854 yards and a dozen touchdowns in the recent campaign.

Justice outpunted Trippi in the Sugar Bowl, 38.8 yards to 32.7. And this year Justice has the country's best collegiate average, 44 yards per boot.

And so Charlie is well equipped to make 81,000 spectators forget about that business two years ago.

What does he think about it?

"I'm going to play the best I know how," that's all.

Rams Battle Alumni 5 In Exhibition

After having watched the big-timers play, the Madison Rams, will try some of the new tricks they learned on the Alumni tonight in the Madison high gym.

The Rams concluded three days of practice for the game by watching the double-header in the Cleveland arena last night as guests of the school. Coach Blaine Dowler had sent them through long sessions Monday and Tuesday, and again yesterday morning.

ORIGINAL QUINT

At the conclusion of the work, Dowler still favored his original starting lineup of Ray "Dutch" Bader and Jim Brightbill at forwards, Joe Distl at center and Ed Chelski and Larry Secrist at guards. He indicated, however, that Gene Riblet will be given a starting berth in future games if any of the regulars falter.

The Madison reserves will meet Coach Jimmy Lymper's Johnny Appleseed Junior high second-stringers in the preliminary set for 7:15 p. m.

Swigert Quits Grid Coaching Position At Wooster College

WOOSTER — (INS) — John M. Swigert resigned today as head football coach at Wooster college. He will remain at the college as head baseball coach.

Athletic Director E. M. Hole said the switch was brought about in accordance with the college's plan providing for a separate coach for each of the school's four major sports.

Hole said no successor to Swigert, who held the football post nine years, has been chosen as yet.

Miami's Coach Goes A-Feudin'

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—(AP)—A long, lean Texan who was 16 before he ever saw a Republican, W. J. (Blue) Foster raced today as one of those athletic rarities a coach who can enjoy life despite losing.

Foster is the tutor of the tap-in at Miami university in Oxford, O., a school which he regards as the "Yale of the west."

"We are often confused with that other Miami, in Florida," he grinned. "That's only a rumor. The other Miami is just a bunch of apartment buildings."

"Blue" currently is conducting a one-sided vendetta with Adolph Rupp, Kentucky's baron of basketball, he claims, with a sly smile, to have untarthed three of the top performers of Kentucky's present great team.

"We go over into Kentucky, out in Ohio, and marry their women, drink their whiskey and see their races," Foster argued.

"Down in Kentucky they come up into Ohio and take out basketball players."

The three to whom Foster refers are Alex Groza, six foot, seven inch ace from Martins Ferry, O.; Jim Line, six-foot, two inch star from Akron, and Walt Hirsch, six-foot, four-inch sophomore from Dayton.

"That Rupp knows how to do it," said "Blue," shaking his head in wonder. "There was one star player a southern school brought a suit of clothes. So a western school which was trying to get him bought him two suits of clothes. What happened? That's right, he turned up at Kentucky."

Ribbing Rupp, Foster told about the seven-foot lad who turned up at Kentucky for basketball. Rupp, according to "Blue," in an effort to make the kid feel at home, asked the boy about his family.

"I understand your dad raises corn," Rupp supposedly said.

"Yep," the boy replied.

"How much does he get to the acre?" asked farmer Rupp.

"Oh," the youngster answered, "about five gallons."

Foster tells that with a raucous chuckle but he gets serious momentarily when he considers his lack of tall players, known to the trade as "balcony peeping Toms."

"To counteract those big boys I'd like to see them take out the 10-second rule," Foster suggested.

That's the rule that makes an offensive team move into its opponent's half of the court 10 seconds after taking possession of the ball.

"That would make the big guys come out from under the basket and do a little real guarding," Foster asserted. "Then see how long they'd last."

But "Blue" isn't one to be serious out for long. In the next breath he was telling how the kids develop down in his native Texas.

"They go out and run down jackrabbits to keep the family in meat," he allowed. "But that alone doesn't develop the fast start.

"Most kids are ordered by their pappy to run alongside those jackrabbits and feel them to make sure they're fat!"

Foster apparently caught his by talking to them.

Civilian Defense Expanding

NATIONAL GUARD—Evening retreat at Camp Edwards, Massachusetts, for Connecticut civilian infantrymen.

By RALPH GUYETTE
(Central Press Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — Twice during the past four decades, a nation set out to conquer the world. Each time it failed—not because it lacked the ability, the resources, or the will to win but because the great industrial strength of America was left, unmolested, to operate against it.

From these two failures another nation, bent also on world domination, will have learned a lesson...in any military operation which plans the subjugation of all nations, the United States must be the first to suffer defeat.

With her great foundries, steel mills and munitions plants working on the side of the aggressor, the biggest step of all toward world conquest will have been taken.

If the stallion of war should once again suddenly rear up and kick us in the teeth, he won't run off for a fresh start, as at Pearl Harbor, but will remain to trample and batter us to death.

This time we will not have two or three years to arm and prepare our counter marches. Overnight we will be in the midst of a first class, fighting war.

Our leaders realize these facts only too well and are attempting to prepare adequate defenses. They are banking heavily on a strong National Guard, which even today is growing rapidly into units of well-trained, capable fighting men.

"Today, with over 222,000 officers and men, many of them seasoned war veterans, the National Guard already constitutes a formidable defense and peace factor," says Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, chief of the National Guard bureau.

★

Trained to serve the nation in peace and war the Guard is scheduled to reach an ultimate strength of 683,000, as compared with an average strength of 185,000 before World War II.

This great new Guard will, of course, need operational quarters. Along with recruiting and organizational plans, therefore, the Guard bureau has developed definitive drawings, outline specifications and pictures of model armories and have distributed them to the adjutants general of the several states. It is estimated that approximately 1,500 new armories will be required.

The governors of these states accepted the plans, subject to the provision that they would receive federal aid in the construction of these new buildings.

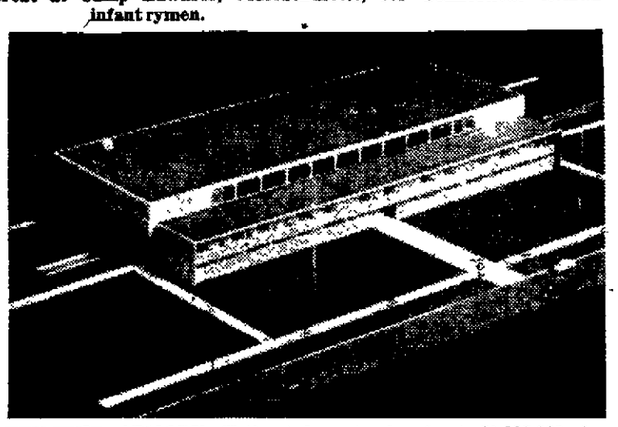
At the present time the Gray Committee on Civilian Components is making a study on the need for training facilities by the civilian components of all services, and its recommendations will be presented to Secretary of Defense Forrestal.

As of Feb. 15, 1948, guard strength exceeded the average pre-war strength by about 36,000 men. This excess is now being housed in rented facilities, war surplus buildings and air installations.

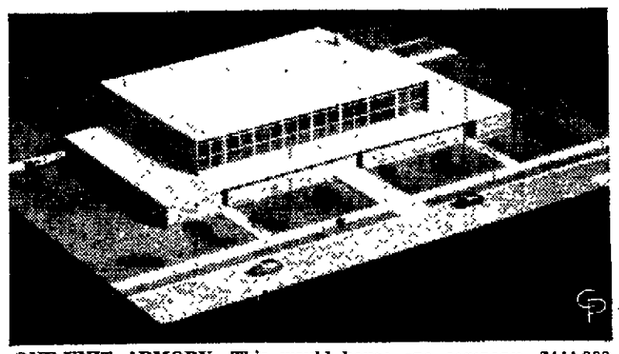
General Cramer says that the Guard can go to a strength of about 300,000 with present facilities but expansion beyond that point will depend in large measure upon the acquisition of additional armories.

Under National Guard bureau plans, therefore, four new type armories have been developed. These will house from one to 10 units of company size and will cost from $444,000 to $1,827,000 each. These costs are but estimates. The actual buildings, in most cases, is expected to cost much less.

Of modern design, all of the type armories are centered around a demonstration and assembly hall which can be used for civic and athletic functions.



TEN-UNIT ARMORY—Estimated cost placed at $1,827,000 for this type.



ONE-UNIT ARMORY—This would house one company—$444,000.

The functional structures are so designed that additions can be made with little trouble to take care of additional units if required.

It is contemplated that the exterior walls will be brick, exposed concrete stone or stucco as determined by local conditions and the design adopted. The architectural design can be adapted to local trends or desires with little difficulty.

FIRING RANGE

In addition to the demonstration and assembly hall, each type armory has in common a 1,000-inch small arms range. Administrative space, classrooms and storage space for individual and organizational equipment varies as to the size of each armory.

The type A, one-unit armory has a demonstration and assembly area of 120 feet by 75 feet. Estimated cost is $444,000.

The type B one-unit armory has a demonstration and assembly area of 150 feet by 100 feet and further varies from the type A armory in that the administrative space and classrooms are one story high and located on three sides of the hall.

Administrative space and classrooms in the type A armory are spread over two floors and only on one side of the assembly hall. Estimated cost of the type B armory is $550,000.

The five-unit, or battalion size armory, has a demonstration hall 150 feet by 100 feet with classrooms and administrative space on three sides. Its estimated cost is $1,305,000.

The 10-unit armory features a demonstration and assembly area 200 by 100 feet with classroom and administrative space on two sides. Its estimated cost is $1,827,000.

QUICK COMEBACK

Junior loved his bowlful of Grape-Nuts Wheat-Meal every morning, and Daddy was very happy that he liked this nourishing hot cereal.

However, Junior had one fault at the breakfast table. He took huge spoonfuls.

One morning, after watching him take one giant spoonful after another, Daddy said: "Junior, one more spoonful like that, and you leave the table."

"One more spoonful like that," replied Junior, blissfully, "and I'll be ready to leave the table."

GI Hides In Drawer; Bull Throws Man; Japs Fearful

(Compiled From Wire Services)

CLEVELAND—The three detectives wouldn't have believed it if they hadn't seen it with their own six eyes.

They were making a routine pre-dawn search for a soldier AWOL from his Dayton base for two months. They knocked on the door of his home and were told by the soldier's pretty young wife that their quarry had been there and gone.

Nevertheless the detectives looked under the beds, in closets and behind clothes. They were about to give up when one of them noticed a dresser shivering, as though it were cold.

Three of the drawers were opened and revealed nothing but clothing. The bottom drawer had no handles and the detectives decided to pass it up.

Then the dresser shrivered again. The police pried open the drawer with a knife blade.

Inside, curled up and shivering was the soldier—James Nathaniel Chambers, 21, six feet one inch and weighing 160 pounds.

At Hinton W. Va., the butcher almost was butchered by a bull.

C. H. Frith was about to butcher a bull when it kicked the knife, sending the butcher to the hospital with a deep cut in his hand.

"The bull got the worst of it though," Frith reported. "He died."

An overseas wire says playful U. S. soldiers have got to quit playing motorman on Yokohama's rickety old trolley cars.

The reason: It makes the Japanese passengers nervous and they all get off when a GI grabs the controls and "guns" the groaning old rattletraps.

Swimmer to Dodge Fisherman's Hook

A fisherman catching a man swimming in the YMCA pool will be one of the highlights of the YMCA "Open House," Saturday, New Year's day.

The part of the fisherman will be taken by Clarence "Duke" Hassinger, an expert fly caster, who will attempt to hook Joe Damoff, "Y" aquatic instructor as he dodges about the pool. Hassinger will have to (hook) Damoff by catching with his line a hook on a helmet worn by Damoff.

Announcement of the "open house" to be held between 2 and 6 p. m., was made by W. D. Corcoran, chairman of the physical committee, and Lowell B. Bourns, chairman of the public relations committee. The public is invited.

The open house event is being carried out in order to acquaint the public with repairs and improvements recently made at the 'Y' building. Maurice Taylor, general secretary, pointed out, however, that the improvements were an emergency measure because of expanded activities and that plans are going ahead for a new building.

WORK COST $15,000

The improvements cost $15,000, of which more than two-thirds was raised by G. W. Stephens, president of The Mansfield Tire and Rubber company. The balance was raised by the YMCA board of trustees, in a drive headed by Rev. Matthew G. Madden. When the drive started, Stephens said he would raise $2 for every $1 raised by the trustees.

Other swimming exhibits will include a goldfish "hunt" in the pool, the various stages in the teaching of swimming, and a swimming class demonstration.

Also included on the program will be a basketball game between the Ashland YMCA and the St. John's Evangelical church team of the junior YMCA league, a volley ball exhibition, a gym class exhibition of calisthenics, tumbling and ground pyramids, a boxing class exhibition under the direction of Verle Sherman, a handball demonstration, and a rifle shooting exhibition.

The woodcraft shop will be open and the game room will be open for table tennis, checkers and cards.

Session Called a Failure; U. N. Council Heads for U. S.

Indonesian Problem Held Over

Will Demand Full Airing

PARIS —(INS)— The Security council headed for the United States today after ordering a new Palestine cease-fire, troop withdrawals and hearing a Dutch promise to halt Java fighting by tomorrow midnight.

The balance sheet for the council's session in Paris the past three months was left without a single clear-cut U. N. victory on any issue.

The worst blow to council prestige was Dutch refusal to obey its Christmas eve cease-fire order, and rejection of council demands that Indonesian leaders be freed.

On the major issue before it—the Soviet blockade of Berlin—the council merely temporized. Its committee of currency experts has failed to reach a recommendation for a settlement of the blockade in the last month, and has just been granted an extension of its deadline—which was originally fixed for today.

On Palestine, the council passed, and then reaffirmed yesterday, a mild resolution which both Egyptians and Israeli have been interpreting in conflicting ways.

With the U. S., Russia, and the Soviet Ukraine abstaining, the Negev truce order of Nov. 4.

That order, a watered-down version of a British proposal to threaten truce violators with sanctions, called for truce talks between Israel and Egypt, a ceasefire, and troop withdrawals.

The Dutch defiance of the council followed defeat of Soviet efforts to condemn the Netherlands for "aggression" against the Indonesian republic. The U. S., regretting the Dutch action, did not press for an immediate accounting.

But at the council's final session U. S. Delegate Dr. Philip C. Jessup warned that the council will demand a full airing of the Dutch attitude when it reconvenes at Lake Success, N. Y., Jan. 6 or 7.

Two other conflicts before the council—the Kashmir war and India's conquest of Hyderabad—were also left unsolved. And the admission of new members was delayed again, in part by the east-west dispute. Russia cast her 28th and 29th vetoes in denying U. N. membership to Ceylon.

When the council reconvenes, Norway, Cuba and Egypt will replace Belgium, Colombia and Syria for a two-year term.

Fear Two Drown In Icy River

WATERVILLE — (AP) — A rowboat carrying a mother and her son capsized in the Maumee river last night and the two were believed to have drowned.

Mrs. Lauretta Fisher, 50, and her son, Walter, 11, were returning to their home on a nearby island when an ice floe struck the boat. Sheriff's Captain Arthur Kaufman reported three other members of the family also were in the boat but managed to reach shore.

Fumes Kill Two

FOSTORIA — (UP) — Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Mrs. Kathryn McLaughlin, 92, and her son-in-law, David Y. Preble, 72, who were found dead in their home of asphyxiation.

Miracle Landing of Plane Saves Lives of Three Men

FARIBAULT, Minn. —(U.P.)— Pilot James Degrood's three passengers agreed today that "God must have been the co-pilot" of their plane which landed itself after Degrood became ill and passed out."

The men had just taken off on a pleasure trip in the four-passenger Stinson Voyager plane when the 20-year-old Fairbault pilot became ill and fainted. The plane was 200 feet above the earth.

The other men opened a window and the cold air revived him. Degrood nosed the ship toward an ice-covered lake just before he lost consciousness again.

The plane brought itself down on an even keel and taxied 50 feet along the ice with a foot of snow gradually cutting its speed. Then it nosed against the shore with a sharp impact.

Degrood suffered a fractured skull. The other passengers apparently escaped injury. They were Degrood's brothers George, 23, and Victor, 18, and Louis Slinger, 35, of Pipestone, Minn. Slinger was held in hospital under observation but George and Victor Degrood were released.

"We're all lucky," George Degrood said. "We could have all been killed.

"When Jim saw he was passing out, he throttled the plane down, headed for the lake, and then blacked out entirely.

"I was sitting next to him and didn't know anything about flying a plane. Victor was in the back seat. He started yelling at me to tell me what to do, but things happened so fast I couldn't pay any attention.

"I knew we had to get down. So when we were over the lake I pushed the control wheel forward. That was all I did. The plane took a more sharp angle downward and landed by itself.

He said that his brother had been flying for about a year.

Ralph E. Tample, owner of the Merrill Aviation company where the men rented the plane, said the landing was "just about an unbelievable miracle."

Mail Route Changes Due Jan. 16

Better Service Promised In City Area

Residents of part of Rural Route 4 will get a belated Christmas present from the post office in improved delivery service beginning Jan. 16, Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford announced today.

Ford said persons living on North Smith avenue, Reed road, Ridge road, and Laver road will start getting their mail delivered to boxes in front of their homes on that day.

At the present time residents of this area have their mail boxes on Wooster road, some distance from their homes.

Patrons who are involved in this change should not move their boxes until they are notified by the post office, Ford said.

He said individual notices will be sent to all patrons affected by the change in ample time to relocate their boxes.

He added that the changes in this route are based on recommendations of the post office sent to the department in Washington, D. C., several months ago. The department's approval of the changes has just been received here.

ADD 4 ROUTES

In the near future four new city carrier routes will be added, according to Ford. They will include one new mounted carrier route and three new foot carrier routes.

The new mounted carrier route will be formed by splitting the present mounted route into two sections, eastern and western.

Ford said the mounted route is now too heavy for one carrier and dividing it will make possible better service and provide for anticipated future expansion.

The new foot carrier routes will be made up by revising and adjusting the present 43 routes, many of which are overloaded, so that all carriers will be able to meet their delivery schedules.

Ford said it was the understanding of the post office that the three new foot carrier routes would be added to provide temporary relief until a survey can be made to determine the exact number of foot carrier routes needed.

The post office already has asked for such a survey, not only of routes but also of clerical and carrier needs, and the request has been granted, he added.

The post office is now compiling statistical information for a report on the basis of which the survey will be made.

If the new routes granted are not sufficient, more routes will be added if the report shows a need for them, Ford said.

Ask $4,500,000,000

PARIS —(U.P.)— The 19 nations of the European Recovery program will ask the United States for about $4,500,000,000 to carry the program through next year, it was reported today. The amount will cover only the second year of the four-year plan.

Asks Reports From Vets

Veterans taking on-the-job training or attending schools under the GI Bill were requested today to report any interruptions or discontinuances of training to the VA immediately.

G. D. Weidemaier, officer in charge of the Mansfield VA, said failure to notify the VA of training terminations results in overpayment of subsistence allowances.

He pointed out the overpayments must be refunded to the government through the VA or satisfactory arrangements for repayment of the indebtedness must be made.

Veterans who fail to make arrangements to repay subsistence allowance overpayments while attending school may be penalized by being prevented from re-entering colleges under the GI bill, Weidemaier said. They will have the amounts they owe the government deducted from benefit checks, he pointed out, if they should later decide to apply for unemployment allowances.

Dems Seek To Ease Rankin Out

Too Outspoken For Spy Hunters

BULLETIN

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Whittaker Chambers met with Reps. Mundt (R-SD) and Nixon (R-Cal.) on Chambers' Maryland farm yesterday and under oath disclosed new names and more detailed information connected with espionage activities in the government 10 years ago, the Baltimore Sun said today.

★

WASHINGTON — (INS) — A fellow committee member, Rep. Hebert (D-La.) today accused Rep. Mundt (R-SD) and Rep. Nixon (R-Cal.) of violating rules and regulations they made for the conduct of the House un-American Activities committee.

★

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—A move to ease Rep. John E. Rankin, D., Miss., off the House un-American Activities committee was reported today to be gaining strength among middle-of-the-road Democrats.

The word came from an influential member of the House Ways and Means committee, whose Democrats pass out committee assignments for their party. He said the feeling is growing that Rankin is too outspoken for membership on the controversial un-American Activities committee.

Rankin, who has figured prominently in the committee's Red spy investigation, told reporters the move was news to him. But he added: "I have no intention of getting off the committee without a fight."

The plan reportedly being discussed is to hold that Rankin will be too busy as chairman of the Veterans committee to give much time to membership on the un-American Activities group. Rankin says he wants both.

Rankin has been one of the most ardent members of the committee. When Rep. John S. Wood, D., Ga., was chairman in the 79th Congress Rankin as the No. 2 Democrat was so active that he frequently was thought of as chairman.

If Rankin is dropped it will serve to aggravate another Democratic headache about the committee. That is the problem of finding members who want to serve on it.

Aside from Rankin's position, two Democratic posts must be filled. So far not a single member has asked for these posts, either as first or second office.

However, one western Democrat was reported thinking about revising his choice and becoming a volunteer.

The committee long has been the center of controversy. Its investigating procedures especially have come in for criticism, sometimes from within the committee itself.

The latest proposal for reforms came yesterday from Sen. John L. McClellan, D., Ark. He suggested that the committee be reorganized as a joint group of the House and Senate. The move was given only an outside chance.

Building Gain Shown In Galion During Year

By CATHERINE RORICK, N-J State Correspondent

GALION—Building construction here during 1948 greatly exceeded that of the previous year, it was revealed in checking building permits which have been issued at city hall.

Figures showed 168 permits were issued this year and 135 in 1947. Higher priced homes, and more of them, were under construction this year, according to estimates on the permits.

An increase in the number of permits issued for the construction of business and public buildings such as theater, church, bowling alleys, service stations and other concerns, was noted for 1948 as compared with 1947.

Up to Dec. 16, the building permits totaled $634,556, while there are a number of others which have been applied for that will hike this total to $676,844. The figure for 1947 was $371,-710.

While 59 Galion citizens took out permits to build new homes in 1948, estimated at an aggregate sum of $291,900, and six others making applications for permits totaling $39,500. there were permits given to 44 home builders in 1947. The aggregate sum of the 44 homes was estimated at $206,-700.

HOME ESTIMATES HIGHER

Two homes for which permits were issued were in the $15,000, and $14,000 class, in 1948, while the highest estimate on a home in 1947 was $8,000.

Permits issued for other homes in Galion during 1948 also show some interesting figures. They ranged in estimates of $1,000 to $8,500. There were five estimated at $8,000, and one at $8,500 Two were estimated at $7,000, while eight were estimated at $6,000 to $6,500.

Twelve of the homes were estmated at $5,000 to $5,500, while 16 homes had estimates of $4,000 to $4,800| Six others were estimated at $3,000 to $3,500, two were in the $2,000 class, and six ranged from $1,000 to $1,500.

Looking to the 1947 permits, the 44 home builders favored homes estimated at from $5,000 to $5,500, since there were 13 permits issued for these estimates. Thirteen others estimated homes at $7,500 to $8,000, seven were approximately $6,000 to $6,800; 11 were estimated at $4,500 to $4,800. The remainder of the builders estimated their homes at figures less than these.

Permits issued on business and public buildings were in greater number and estimated at a much higher figure in 1948 than in the previous year. They totaled $291,590 up to Dec. 16.

Included in this figure was a theater, estimated at $100,000, a church basement at $61,000, a private industrial garage at $45,000, a bowling alley at $20,000, and a service station at $15,000.

The remainder of permits in the amount of $342,656 were issued for additions to homes, home improvements, private garages and small businesses.

Shelby Decides On Fire Truck

SHELBY—After careful study of the three proposals for new fire fighting equipment Mayor William Morris yesterday accepted the bid offered by the American LaFrance corporation of Elmira of $18,300.

The LaFrance proposal is for a "quad" fire truck with 750 gallons per minute pumps, and with nine ladders ranging from 10 feet to a 50-foot ladder of three sections. The truck has a V-12 motor with 204 B. H. P., a wheelbase of 220 inches, an overall length of 420 inches and a total weight of 18,200 pounds.

An extra feature of the LaFrance was the cab-in-front-of-wheels, which Fire Chief Jack Ward felt was the best adapted for some of the narrow Shelby streets.

Some Expectations For '49

A MOST UNUSUAL paradox presents itself to forecasters looking ahead into 1949. Policy-makers and propagandists of the Soviet Union have for a long time been counting on a depression in the United States to further communist aims.

However, as Associated Press Analyst Harry T. Montgomery points out, the "cold war" between the Soviets and the western powers is the chief factor in the American economic outlook at present. So long as Russia poses a threat to the democratic way of life, the U. S. is likely to continue rearming and spending for reconstruction abroad.

Pouring out of vast sums of the American taxpayers' money for arms and foreign relief naturally bolsters our present inflated economy. It is a false bolstering, it is true, because the expenditures produce virtually nothing to improve the nation's actual living standards.

Indeed, not only does the program take cash, but, as has been pointed out by conservationists, it robs the nation of vital minerals needed in a balanced peace-time economy.

Yet, so long as the cold war exists the U. S. has no choice but to continue its present course and go on living in the midst of inflation.

Thus the Russians are actually forcing the continuing of a boom which they had hoped long ago would turn into a bust.

* * *

ON THE HOME FRONT, it appears likely that the 81st Congress will make several gestures in the direction of federal support for education and perhaps for medicine. How far the Congress goes along the fringe of socialism will be of vital importance to every American and every bill and every debate should be watched with close interest.

Labor, of course, is demanding repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, and the Truman administration is expected to ask for it. Congress may not go all the way, but there will be a wild battle. And both labor and management are apt to adopt attitudes of caution until they see the outcome.

The military position of the United States will no doubt improve in 1949 from the rather sorry depletion that followed the end of the war.

* * *

FARM PRICES began to decline in 1948 and the new year is likely to bring agitation for revival of crop controls and greater government price bolstering. Major reason for the decline was a lessening of foreign demand and that lessening will probably continue.

Agriculture will stand in the forefront of the readjustment to a real peacetime economy which other phases of the nation's business and industry must face eventually.

Farming, therefore, will be under keen observation by those who want to see how the transition should or should not be made. Intelligent conservation practices, if followed out widely, may do as much as subsidies and federal controls to solve the farmer's problem and let him retain his traditional independence. At least, agriculture will be in the national spotlight more and more in the coming months.

European Recovery Moves Slowly

WITH approach of the time when Congress is to vote on financial aid to Europe as administered by the European Co-operation Administration, observers in this country and overseas are drawing conclusions as to the success, so far, of the program.

It was founded on the idea of the creation of an interlocking economy for the continent and Great Britain. This concept included currency stabilization, balancing of budgets, and smooth trade relations within the group and with nations outside it, as well as careful use of the funds provided and the furnishing of needed raw materials to the United States. It now begins to seem doubtful whether this over-all objective can be achieved within the four years allotted to it.

Some beneficiaries have been willing to adopt an austerity program and to stick to it grimly. Their progress will be faster than that of countries whose confused political condition makes such action unpopular and hard to carry out. Some of the latter countries seem to be making little progress. The Benelux customs union has been launched and seems headed for success, and Italy and France have a customs union proposal under study. These are of necessity long-range projects.

Teamwork among European nations is possible, but the spirit which makes it practicable will not spring full-armed into being. For a time it may seem that for every step forward, two are taken backward. During the seven months' life of the Economic Co-operation Administration a great deal has been accomplished. The plan may gain impetus as time goes on, and as this new idea of co-operation is absorbed into European thought.

Price of Coal Already Excessive

EARLY IN 1949, John L. Lewis and other officials of the United Mine Workers will meet with representatives of the operators of the soft coal industry to negotiate a new wage and working agreement.

It now appears that a major demand to be made by the union will be for a 30-hour work week and a six-hour working day. The union, of course, wants miners to gain this benefit without accepting any cut in their weekly pay.

A question that should be uppermost in the minds of union chiefs now is just how far the miners or any other workers can go in demanding more pay for less work, thereby driving up the cost of living another notch. Labor, after all, could conceivably price itself into widespread unemployment.

Only one more day left in which to look after 1948's "unfinished business."

Washington Calling

Still Lack Firm Policy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — There is one thing that diplomatic Washington earnestly wishes for—a clear and unmistakable course in Europe, and, above all, in Germany, that would end the zigzags of the past year and a half. Such a policy fixed at the top would leave no one in any doubt as to what line the United States intended to follow not merely during the coming year but for the next decade.

This would mean a determination by President Truman to make sure that a consistent policy was carried out. The confusion of a Pentagon policy, a General Clay policy, a state department policy and, perhaps, a White House policy would be ended.

The French believe that they now have won what is, at any rate, a temporary victory. As the result of French insistence, the British and the Americans have apparently agreed to an international force that would exercise top supervision over the German management of the Ruhr.

According to current report, this has been brought about with at least the tacit support of the state department. It means that the General Clay-Pentagon policy of turning the Ruhr industrial complex back to German direction and control has been overruled.

Public opinion in this country undoubtedly played a part. There was a strong revulsion against restoring the discredited past to authority. A lively and positive interest has grown up in the proposal to give supervising direction in the Ruhr to the international co-operative alliance.

At a recent press conference President Truman declared that cartels would never be restored in German industry so long as he was President. But the capable commission sent to Germany by Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall is discovering, according to a report to the New York Times, that in certain fields the same old cartel structure is being put together again.

* * *

"Specialists" Disagree.

THE TRUTH is that without a firm policy resolutely laid down from the top, what you get is a warfare of the specialists, each with his own favorite specialty to push. In Germany this has gone much further than is realized in this country.

Thus the military specialists are beginning to argue that it is unwise, in view of the Soviet menace, to waste German military manpower. The industrial specialists in the European co-operation administration are suggesting that since the United States must provide most of the rearmament for western Europe, German plants could be turned in part at least to production of arms for the western alliance.

That may be the function of specialists — to argue the case for their special responsibility and special job.

But such talk scares the wits out of Germany's western neighbors who live in fear of a Germany that would seek to wield the balance of power between East and West, ready to throw in with the side that offered the most.

And behind this fear, too, is the fact that the specialists have from time to time won their way.

At one time consideration was given to naming a special assistant to the President to advise him on foreign policy. That proposal has now been put aside, since it was feared it would lead to rivalry and controversy. That might have been true, but the fact remains that a new and positive approach is essential in the year to come and afterward.

Taking 'Old Joe' Apart

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Just what kind of man is Joseph Stalin, and what does he really think and want?

Is he a kindly, pipesmoking, good old Joe? Or is he the cold and crafty brain behind everything Soviet Russia does?

He's talked to outsiders just a few times, in interviews. Every time he did, and sounded at all friendly, this question arose: Did he mean it? Or was that just a shift in tactics or a little propaganda to blind the world to his real intentions?

Although his talks with foreigners have been few, there's one way of finding out what he's really shooting at:

That's by checking with utmost care everything he's written since becoming a top man in Russia's Communist party.

That's been done now—in the magazine "Foreign Affairs"—by a writer who uses only the pen name "Historicus."

(Time magazine says that, "According to Washington gossip," Historicus is George A. Morgan, first secretary in the U.S. embassy in Moscow.)

Historicus has carefully checked everything Stalin has written since 1919 and summed it up in a long study, "Stalin on Revolution."

Many experts on Russia share this view of Stalin which Historicus has pieced together:

Stalin has dedicated his life to victory for communism throughout the world. That's his goal. It never changes.

So when Stalin talks of peaceful cooperation with a capitalist country like ours, he's just shifting tactics. His real goal is unchanged.

Any agreement Stalin makes with a capitalist country must be only a temporary thing.

Pursues Main Objective.

CAN'T a capitalist state like this and a communist state like Russia live side by side peacefully and indefinitely?

Stalin, like Lenin before him, considers that "unthinkable." One of Stalin's favorite quotations from Lenin is this:

"In the end, either one or the other will conquer. Until that end comes, a series of terrible collisions between the Soviet Republic and the bourgeois states is inevitable."

Stalin figures Russia needs another 15 or 20 years to gather strength for the final showdown.

But even in those years communism and its leaders must grab every opportunity to spread and create the opportunity for spreading.

Stalin thinks capitalist states like ours have within themselves the seeds of their own destruction: Depressions; wide unemployment, sooner or later; internal struggles, such as between workers and bosses; and wars between the capitalist states themselves for power.

But Stalin doesn't expect the capitalist states to collapse steadily. Their fortunes will ebb and flow. Right now, for instance, after World War II capitalism is at an ebb and communism is pushing in in Asia and eastern Europe.

Capitalism in time may regain a flow period, for a while, but the ebb will come again.

And always communism — for example, through local Communist parties in each country — must do what it can to sink capitalism.

The communists in each country must be ready to take over a revolution. Without such leadership, Stalin thinks, a revolution may fail.

So long as Russia stands strong, communism everywhere will have a base, a starting point, a sense of direction, and help. And—eventually," in Stalin's view—a force ready to step in and topple the last capitalist states.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Warned In Advance of Indonesian War

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Inside fact about the Indonesian war is that the United States received ample advance notice it was coming.

Merle Cochran, American member of the United Nations good offices committee in Indonesia, warned the state department by cable one month before the attack. He reported that the Dutch were piling up supplies—most of them made in America — preparing to wipe up the Indonesian Republic, even while U. N. mediators were trying to settle the dispute.

Cochran queried the Dutch regarding their activity, but got waved aside with the bland reply that the Dutch army was preparing for "routine maneuvers."

But possibly because of his inquiries, Dutch representatives in Washington were more frank. They informed both the state department and the U. S. joint chiefs of staff that communists had permeated the Indonesian Republic and were planning a revolt in February.

If this revolt was successful the communists would use Java and Sumatra as a base to take over British Malaya, Borneo and the Philippines. Therefore, concluded the Dutch, they planned to take "police measures" in advance.

It so happens that the registered communist vote in Holland itself at the last election was 10 per cent, and U. S. observers say that the communist percentage in Indonesia is less.

However, U. S. reaction was mixed. The state department, which hitherto has coddled the Dutch, began to get alarmed. Certain U. S. military men, on the other hand, in effect winked. "Police action," they indicated to the Dutch, was an internal problem of no concern to the United States.

* * *

Truman's Military Pals.

CONFLICT between the U. S. military and the state department is, of course, nothing new. And the above illustrates what has happened to U. S. foreign policy time and again ever since President Truman took office. In Germany, in China, in Argentina and in Spain, the President has let the military influence, sometimes dominate, his foreign policy.

Immediately after the Dutch attacked, the state department, belatedly wide awake, drafted a strong note to the Netherlands. It was just as strong as the Australian statement at the United Nations.

When the note was sent to the White House, however, the President toned it down. Again the military were suspected.

But even in its revised form, the American protest put the Dutch almost in the same category as the Hitlers and Mussolinis in their wrecking of the League of Nations. It also brought howls of private anguish from the Dutch.

* * *

The Dutch Wail.

LAST WEEK, Dutch representatives called on U. S. officials again. They were up in arms over curtailment of Marshall Plan aid to Indonesia—even though this slap on the wrist sounds much louder than it hurts.

Actually the state department has curtailed only $14,000,000, of unspent ECA aid to Indonesia. The remaining $47,000,000 has already been committed and will not be cut off—though most of it could be. Further ... our huge $550,000,000 ECA allotment to Holland still stands—even though $350,000,000 of this amount is passed on to Indonesia.

Nevertheless, the Dutch were irate. Without attempting to quote them direct, the gist of what they said was this:

We don't understand your policy. You spend five and a half billions to fight communism in Europe, yet in the Far East you support colonialism. We wouldn't be in the Western European Pact if you hadn't asked us to get in. We could have been neutral in the last war, and we could be neutral in the next. We don't want to have our country overrun by the Russians as it was by Hitler.

We realize that this Western European Pact is largely for the defense of the United States and that we are essential to it. So if the United States is going to cut off Marshall Plan aid because of Indonesia, we might begin warming up to the Russians. We don't want to, but we may have to.

So far it doesn't look as if the President is going to be scared by Dutch threats. Mr. Truman may make mistakes, but the last thing he does is scare easy. He's much more likely to get his backbone up.

Furthermore the state department is convinced that Dutch tactics in Indonesia are likely to foment communism rather than block it. The Indonesian Republic represents middle-of-the-road natives who don't want communism any more than the Dutch.

Imperialistic Dutch colonial policies have played into communist hands. In 300 years, for instance, the Dutch have increased the literacy of the Dutch East Indies only 7 per cent.

In Event Crisis Comes

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — To anyone investigating the security situation in the nation's capital, the intelligence and counter-intelligence activities appear by far the most comforting.

At least, they seemed so to this correspondent after several months of probing.

For one thing, the country's widespread intelligence training and activities seem to have been intensified, rather than relaxed, since the end of World War Two—both domestically and internationally.

For another thing, despite the seeming hydra-headed operation of such security sleuthing, involving both civilian and military agencies and operatives, there is surprisingly little over-lapping, and comparatively few signs of competitive jealousy.

This latter situation is all the more surprising when you consider the units in operation—Army, Navy, Air Corps, Federal Bureau of Investigation and the counter - intelligence specialists, and at least a couple of other outfits which currently prefer to keep their present unheralded status.

The secret of the comparatively close cooperation among the various outfits, according to an F.B.I. spokesman, is that most of them have an administrative nucleus of former law-enforcement officers.

Although undoubtedly some exceptions exist, this correspondent found that condition generally held true in conversations with key men in almost all the sleuthing outfits. None of them gave vent to the usual type of jealous outbursts you hear so often between other military and civilian agencies with paralleling problems.

Liaison among them also appeared to be excellent. Many civilians work for the military units, often reporting only by phone and never showing in person around the boss' office. Likewise, military investigators with specific abilities often are assigned the civilian security agencies for special jobs.

And while each outfit has its own men do the work, their files, records, research departments and technical laboratories are available back and forth, without wasting a lot of time going "through channels."

* * *

There's a "Master Plan."

ANOTHER comforting factor, also unique in the total military-civilian preparedness picture, was the discovery of an over-all intelligence and security master plan which obviously could be thrown immediately into gear in time of emergency.

The word "obviously" is used advisedly, for existence of the aforementioned master plan was neither confirmed nor denied by the investigating agency spokesmen. They said, however, there were no objections to my drawing my own conclusions.

The method used to reach that particular conclusion merely consisted of asking specific—and often identical—questions in each outfit.

The questions concerned what would be done in case of a sudden world (I.E. wartime) crisis. The answers, while too general to be dangerous, still were similar enough to fall into place like the border sections of a jigsaw puzzle . . . A jigsaw puzzle which couldn't be finished without the missing pieces, but still clearly shows the outline of an existing picture!

Unquestionably, such a master plan would be an adaption, expansion and improvement of the domestic security plan thrown into action by the F.B.I. at the start of World War Two. Only now, its cooperative fingers stretch around the world, its jointly-developed dossiers have mounted into the millions and the least of its operatives can be alerted by a single coded message.

Dave Boone Says:

THE TEN best-dressed women of the year have just been named and I'd like to hear the remarks of any of the girls who finished worse than third.

* * *

To put a year's effort and money into an event like that and not even be in the money when the official board goes up must be pretty exasperating.

* * *

Mrs. Bill Paley won but I'll bet that the ladies who finished as good as "place or show" claim they were either caught in the gate or blocked in the stretch.

* * *

Turning to more serious things, it's hard to think of the Dutch, often rescued from the blitz themselves, defying the U. N. and giving the works to another small country. It's like hearing that Santa Claus shot his reindeer.

Which Way for the Trends?

It is suggested that inflation is the only emergency that may drive the new Congress into swift action. But if Congress is at all aware of recent developments it will not be hasty in this one respect.

The plain reason is that a tall question mark has been raised about current economic trends. It is not clear as to whether they are pointing upward, downward or are just leveling off.

Some authority can be found to support any one of these possibilities. While there seems little ground for a belief that anything like a genuine recession is at hand, there are deflationary forces at work and they are widely recognized.

So Congress might hesitate a little before it dives into an anti-inflation program under the spur of that familiar argument about an emergency. — Kansas City Times.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The treaty for the Gadsden Purchase was signed on December 30, 1853. Negotiated by General James Gadsden, the purchase covered 60,000 square miles of territory which now forms a part of Arizona and New Mexico.

Few Covered Bridges

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE NARROW winding highroad where I used to walk—to deliver two quarts of milk daily to a village customer—crossed over a branch of the Juniata by a picturesque covered bridge. The bridge was old and I remember that when a high wind blew the thin oaklap shingles were scattered eastward and bobbed lightly on the roughened river current.

The siding, too, came loose and left openings where I stood to look out over the slow-flowing water. The river made an abrupt bend, and the high southern hills were crowded far into its bosom. A buzzard sailed high among the limestone crags, afloat with heaving, living thunderheads.

Once during a storm I took refuge in the bridge and felt strange terror when lightning struck a tall ash in a nearby field and the bridge shook with the thunderous afterclap. Out in midstream a big fish leaped high out of the water and I wondered if he felt as I did. Then rain came and the river rose to meet it in a million places. Muddy rills coursed down from adjacent corn fields. Far up the hills a "slide" sent big boulders bouncing and heaving.

It was pleasant to watch a team and wagon cross the bridge. The smell of the horses, the jingle of the harness, the musical thunder of rolling wheels upon loosened planks, made entertainment never to be forgotten. After the driver had greeted me and passed, I watched until the man erect and his bobbing horses dwindled and disappeared through the other end of the dark tunnel. The echoes died away and only a pile of fresh steamy horse manure was left upon the oaken plank floor.

In winter the bridge was weather proof. If snow was deep, two farmers would haul big loads on sleds and help each other across the stretch of bare planks by putting both teams to each sled for the crossing.

Often I have helped to scoop loose snow and pave the bridge with it for the heavy steel-soled "snowboats" that were commonly used. To get through drifts, many men carried with them a spreader that would attach to the end of the tongue, so that a wagon-wide track could be quickly made and no time need be lost.

Few such bridges remain. River dampened moss, ivy and lichens help the walls to fall apart beneath them; every year they sag lower toward the stream, until one year the freshet catches them and they are gone. But to those not too young to remember, there is sweet recollection, about the old-time covered bridge that links modern traffic with the high-wheeled Conestoga wagons of an earlier day.

Germany No Threat At Present

No Settlement Seen On Berlin

Since our elections I have been on a tour of Western Europe and of Germany which took me from Madrid to Berlin and Frankfort, from Rome to Bern and Geneva and then to Paris and London. The hardest but the most important question to answer is what is going to happen if the present stalemate continues. For it is the generally accepted view that there is no near prospect of a fullscale, organized war On the other hand, there is no prospect of a settlement.

No one, of course, doubts that the Russians have a mobile striking force in Eastern Germany which is quite sufficient to crush the air lift and to overrun the Ruhr. But while this force could win the first battle, it could not win a war.

It is, I think, the generally accepted view that had the Russian high command been intending a blitzkrieg, it would have struck last summer when our capacity to retaliate sharply was considerably less than it is now and will be next summer.

In fact, however exasperating the Soviet diplomacy, the Russian high command has I was told on excellent authority — been very circumspect There has been no interference with the air lift Moreover, when the blockade was imposed, the Russian troops in Berlin were raw recruits from the more primitive tribes within the U. S S R They were replaced, while the diplomatic tension was mounting by highly disciplined troops who have behaved, sometimes under great provocation by Germans in Berlin, so as to avoid dangerous incidents

I tried to learn what I could about German military forces under Soviet control About the famous Paulus army, which is said to have been recruited from German prisoners of war, nothing much is known. If it exists, it is in Russia.

In the Soviet zone of Germany there is the Volkspolize —"People's Police"—which is being trained by General Von Seydlitz and other German officers. It is armed with light weapons, and according to our information it is composed of ex-Nazis from the Gestapo and Hitler's stormtroopers. This force will have to be taken very seriously in the negotiation about Germany as a whole.

About the blockade, the air lift, and the division of Berlin we must have no illusions The air lift is an impressive operation, in all respects creditable to the air force and to the pilots and crews who take part in it But as an instrument of the policies of Mr Marshall and Mr Bohlen, it must be said, I think, that it is subject to the law of diminishing returns, that the longer it continues the less useful it becomes

Nor is it true that the prestige earned by the air lift will continue to mount as we prove that we can keep it up A few days after the election in Berlin, we had a good indication of how the air lift, which is said to have won the Germans to our cause, is actually impressing the Germans Herr Reuthe, the Socialist leader who won, told us publicly that the present air lift was not enough and that as a reward to the Germans who had voted as we wished them to vote, we should increase the air lift...

The whole thing is what Mr. Churchill once said it was—a demonstration that we can stand on our heads while the Russians sit in an armchair. We can, no doubt, stand on our head quite a long time.

But while we do it, it would be desirable for the planners and operators of our foreign policy to use their heads, and not to let the air lift become an excuse for avoiding issues that are getting more difficult to solve the longer the situation is allowed to deteriorate.

MISS CLAUDIA MARKS TO BE WED TO MR. UPHAM

Friends Learn of Engagement at Buffet Dinner Party at Marks Home Wednesday.

FIFTY FRIENDS learned of the engagement of Miss Claudia V. Marks to David Lanning Upham last evening at a buffet supper given at the Marks home, 501 Woodhill road.

Miss Marks is the daughter of Mrs. Claude V. Marks and Mr. Upham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Upham, Mt. Vernon, O.

Mrs. Barbara Meisse, Mansfield's most distinguished decorator, arranged the home for the affair. The table where the guests were served was centered with an artistic arrangement of one large candelabra with holiday greens and red camellias surrounding.

The stairs were solidly banked with holiday greens with clusters of red carnations intermingled. Arrangements of Christmas red carnations were placed in the entrance hall.

In the upstairs hall window the traditional holiday tree was decorated in modern art. The trunk of the plain green tree was covered with red balls. White lights completed the picturesque tree.

Several of the out-of-town guests present were Mr. Upham's relatives from Mt. Vernon.

No definite date has been announced for the couple's wedding.

Miss Marks graduated from Hathaway Brown school, Cleveland, Monticello Junior college, Alton, Illinois, and attended Rollins college, Winter Park, Florida, this year where she was pledged to Pi Beta Phi, national fraternity.

Mr. Upham graduated last January from Denison University where he was affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He spent three years in the merchant marines and graduated from the Merchant Marine Academy.

Shower Given By Friends For Mrs. Twitchell

Thirteen guests were present last evening at a miscellaneous shower given for Mrs. David Twitchell, nee Hazel Donelson. Miss Jean Daugherty, Miss Doris Alverson and Miss Eleanor Fox were the hostesses at the Daugherty home, 396 West Fifth street.

Bridge was the diversion of the evening.

Mrs. Twitchell was presented her gifts by reading directions placed under a large umbrella. The gifts were hidden in different sections of the home. The hostesses presented the honoree with a place setting of silver.

The guests were seated at a table centered with a floral arrangement of mums with pink and white tapers on each side.

Mr. and Mrs. Twitchell exchanged nuptial vows, September 14, in Evanston, Illinois, with the Rev. Alfred Edyvean officiating. The couple have made their home in Evanston, 2208 Bennett street. Mr. Twitchell is a student at Northwestern University.

Mrs. Twitchell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Donelson, 590 Garfield place, and Mr. Twitchell is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Howard Twitchell of this city.

The hostesses for the affair are home from college during the Christmas vacation. Miss Daugherty and Miss Alverson are students at Miami University and Miss Fox is a student at Ohio University.

HOSTESSES NAMED

Mrs. Ray J. Hammer, Mrs. George Cairns and Mrs. Lloyd Barr will be hostesses tomorrow at the Art Study club meeting at the Grace Episcopal church at 2 p. m.

BAKE SALE

Members of Delta Theta chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority, will hold a bake sale Friday morning at the West Third street market. Their next regular meeting will be held Monday evening, Jan. 3 at the YMCA at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Wilbur Upson, Glenbeck lane, was hostess to members of Rho chapter, Chi Sigma sorority, for a dessert bridge party Tuesday evening. Four guests, Mrs. Floyd Adams, Mrs. Foster Bell, Mrs. Frank Waller and Mrs. Donald Hattman, were present.

Mrs. Richard Wappner was welcomed back as an active member of the sorority.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Hattman, Miss Ruth Jaberg and Miss Margaret McFadden.

Mrs. Raymond Schmunk was the chairman of the party with Mrs. Burlyn Schuck, Mrs. William Sites, Mrs. Upson, Mrs. Harvey Willsey and Mrs. Robert Betz assisting her. The refreshment tables were centered with candles. The Christmas theme was carried out during the party.

The next meeting will be at the YMCA, January 11.

Entertain At Home On New Year's

By ALICE DENHOFF

Of course there are just scads of folk that see in the blithe New Year at their favorite restaurant or who make up a table for supper and dancing at the town's leading hostelry. But for most of us, it is the house party that offers the big attraction, especially when there is a large family and group of friends.

Fare ranges from just beverages, coffee and fruit cake and perhaps sandwiches served after the company returns from Watch Night services, to chafing dish parties or elaborate buffet suppers. The latter is desirable when the guests have been asked to arrive early and stay late. In that case, substantial fare is indicated, which is the case with us.

Our menu will include chicken with mushrooms and sweetbreads, stuffed tomatoes, deviled eggs, cranberry jelly, sweet pickles, olives, celery, hot baking powder biscuits, pineapple ice, fruit cake, plain cake, cookies, coffee.

As for the service, the tomatoes will be scooped out and stuffed with chopped celery, cucumbers and tomatoes mixed lightly with salad dressing. The tomatoes will be arranged in the center of two round chop plates which have been covered with watercress. The deviled eggs are placed around the edge of the plate, and one of these dishes will be placed at each end of the buffet, with the casserole dish in the center. We happen to have a very decorative casserole, otherwise the chicken would be served on a large parsley decorated platter.

To prepare the chicken, use 2 3-lb. chickens and have them cut for fricaseeing. Also needed is a lb. of mushrooms and 4 sweetbreads. Cook the chicken and the sweetbreads for an hour. Cool, then cut up the meat in small pieces. Into a saucepan place 4 c. of rich whole milk. Blend ½ c. flour with ½ c. margarine or butter; add this to milk. Place over flame; stir until thick. Wash and cut up the mushrooms for the sauce. Add the chicken, sweetbreads and mushrooms to the sauce. Season with salt and pepper. Heat a casserole in the oven. Place the creamed mixture into it and bake 25 min. This will serve 12.

For a simpler buffet, roast ham, macaroni salad, hot buttered rolls, currant jelly, olives, pickles, celery, radishes followed by ice cream with assorted little cakes, adds up to mighty fine fare, and not so rich as the former menu.

To prepare macaroni salad for 12 boil package macaroni, then cool it. Mix it with one can tuna fish, one c. sliced stuffed olives, 2 c diced celery, 2 c. diced cucumbers, 6 tomatoes cut in small pieces, one c. cheese cut in quite small cubes. Mix and moisten with French dressing.

Cover a large platter with crisp lettuce, and arrange the salad on it. Decorate with sliced tomatoes and stuffed olives.

Stevens Home Scene Of Luncheon-Bridge

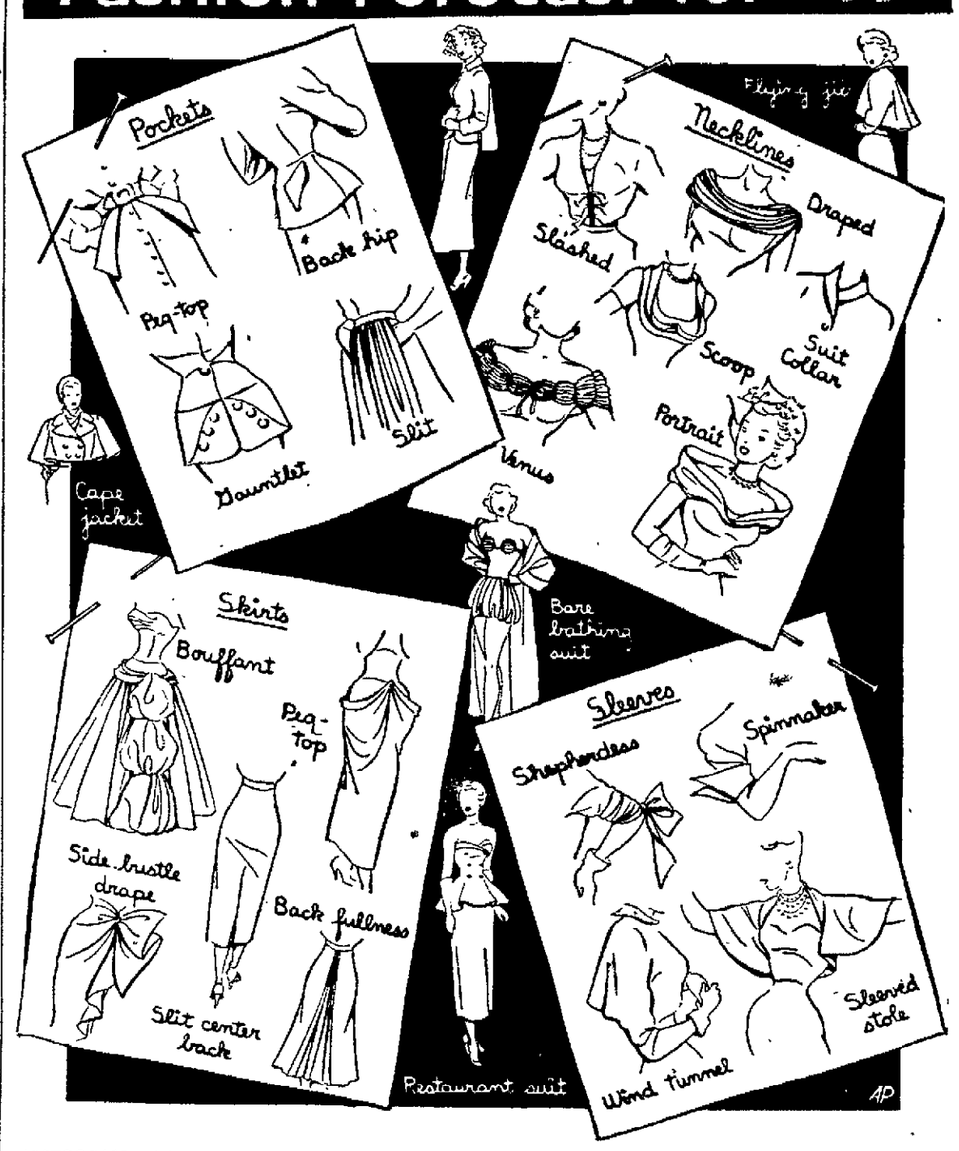
Mrs. J. H. Stevens, 545 Cook road, entertained a group of friends Wednesday afternoon at her home. Luncheon was served at a long table decorated in the holiday theme.

Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon with the high score gift presented to Mrs. W. J. Toole. Mrs. F. W. Conrade of Atlanta, Ga. was the out-of-town guest.

CLUB PARTY

GALION. Seventy-five children were visited by Santa Claus at the Galion Country club when a Christmas party for the youngsters was held. The children received a gift, a large silver wrapped popcorn ball and candy from Santa and were served refreshments at the close. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Arch Beach, Mrs. A. M. Carter, Mrs. Fred Vergon, Mrs. Don Kelley, Mrs. Henry Kruger, Mrs. Louis Grutch and other members of the club.

Fashion Forecast for '49



AMERICAN LOOK FOR SPRING . . . New wrinkles in the spring silhouette will include: brief capelet jackets, slim, slit or peg-top skirts, hemlines slightly shorter than last fall, plenty of sleeve and pocket interest and necklines as revealing as the law allows. New fabrics are elegant and beautiful.

FOOD OUTLOOK GOOD FOR 1949

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, AP Food Editor.

AMERICANS will eat well in 1949 and will continue to grumble about the food budget. One ray of light is an indication that meat prices will drop slightly toward the end of the year, and that most of the favorite diet items of Mr. and Mrs. USA will be available in abundance.

Assurance as to food supplies comes from O. V. Wells, chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who says:

"Supplies of food available to American families will be just about the same in 1949 as they were in 1948."

During the war our food consumption per person was upped—the peak came in 1946, when it was 18 per cent above prewar. This year we'll not hit that high point, but we'll still be 12 per cent above the average in 1935-39.

We probably shall continue to be better fed nutritionally in 1949 than in any prewar year. Americans now are getting more than a fourth more iron, niacin, and riboflavin and more than a third more thiamine—thanks chiefly to the continued enrichment of white bread and flour. The quantities of vitamin A, vitamin C, and calcium in the diet have stayed well above the prewar averages because people have continued to eat more leafy, green and yellow vegetables, citrus fruit and tomatoes, and more cheese and fluid milk.

Glance at individual foods and here's how prospects stack up: More of next year's meat is expected to be pork with less beef, veal, lamb, available. Pork prices will be lower than beef. What beef there is will be of better grades as more cattle will be grain-fed.

If your family can't get all the meat they want they'll take fish, figures on the consumption of fishery products show. Our present fish consumption is 10.8 pounds per capita, as compared with about ten pounds per capita a year ago.

Supplies of canned fish probably will be about the same in 1949 as in '48. Though we may have lots more tuna, the salmon pack may be a good deal lower.

There should be more turkey and chicken around than there was this year and prices should be better, too.

When it comes to per capita supplies of fluid milk, cream, evaporated milk and cheese, 1949 will see us consuming about the same amount as we did this year, though there's a chance there'll be more butter around. Prices of dairy products are expected to average about what they did in 1948.

Somewhat larger supplies of fats and oils will be available for civilian consumption, and they should be cheaper, too.

Fresh fruit supplies will continue to be large—especially vitamin C-rich (citrus) fruits. The prices of fresh oranges and grapefruits are expected to be about the same. Canned fruit juice supplies will be ample. Smaller crops of apples and pears this year mean somewhat reduced supplies ahead, and prices higher; canned pears may not be quite as plentiful as last. But just to balance things there'll be a large supply of canned apricots.

If your family particularly appreciates bananas, they'll be glad to know that they will constitute the largest item of fresh fruit we import in 1949. Pineapple is expected to be in good supply, too.

Supplies of frozen foods are swinging upward, with packers attempting to meet consumer demand for such basic items as fruits, vegetables, fish and poultry. And it looks as if there would be more frozen strawberries for shortcake all the year round. No one is making any predictions about what the price of frozen foods will be.

More fresh vegetables for the family table this winter is the word. Plenty of white potatoes and dry beans for the winter but supplies of sweet potatoes are smaller this year than they were last. Canned vegetables, in ample supply, will help make menu-planning easier.

There will be plenty of peanuts and peanut butter, too for small fry and good nutrition. Brazil nuts, cashews, chestnuts, will be imported as usual.

No one with a sweet tooth need worry. In 1948 our diet had a little more carbohydrate than it did two years ago because we got plenty of sugar . . . and supplies ahead are ample.

Program Meeting Plans Completed

Miss Pearl Wierman, vice president, conducted the meeting of the Executive Board, Business and Professional Women's club, Wednesday evening in the Latwell room at the library. Fifteen members were in attendance.

Miss Pearl Danback, program chairman, announced that the next program meeting will be January 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the Mansfield Leland Hotel clubrooms. Miss Margaret Wheeler will conduct a professional forum. A dessert luncheon will be served at the start of the meeting.

Fliger-Henry Vows Read In Loudonville

Of interest in Mansfield is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Edith Fliger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fliger, Loudonville, and James Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Henry of Wooster. Mr. Henry is employed at the Ideal Electric company here. The couple is making their home in Loudonville.

They were wed Dec. 12 at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Paul Cropper Jr. Feted At Tea Wednesday at Women's Club

COMPLIMENTING Mrs. Paul Cropper jr., nee Elizabeth Gibson, was the tea given Wednesday afternoon at the Women's Club by Mrs. Paul Cropper, 468 West Third street. Seventy-five guests were received from 3 to 5 o'clock. Assisting Mrs. Cropper were Miss Marilyn Gernhart, Mrs. N. Wayne Taylor, Mrs. Fred Talcott and Mrs. Robert C. Marks.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Edward D. Gibson and Mrs. R. B. Gibson, the latter an aunt of the recent bride. The serving table was lovely with a centerpiece of red carnations and holly and long white tapers. The same appointments were used to decorate the drawing room.

Mrs. Cropper jr. is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Gibson, 282 West Fourth street, and Mr. Cropper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cropper, of the West Third street address. The young couple was feted at many lovely pre-nuptial parties preceding their formal wedding solemnized Sunday, Dec. 5, at the First Methodist church.

In attendance from out-of-town were Mrs. Paul Williams of Dayton, Miss Ann Weaver, 520 Chevy Chase road, who is a student at the University of Michigan, and Mrs. Harold Cox of New Haven Conn., house guest of her daughter, Mrs. Matthew Madden, 379 Sherman Place.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, December 31

THE current planetary aspects and predictions seem to accent the usual lively and intemperate culmination of the passing year, together with the wild, tempestuous and raucous welcome to the oncoming one. Rash, ungoverned and over-hilarious conduct is bound to incite many phases of exaggeration, excitement, probably accident and strife. The conspicuous "show off" is bound to run counter to sane judgment with consequent penalties. A rational and sensible course of action could foster much real happiness and joyous festivity.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find their forces and faculties keyed to new moves, with decisive attempts to put over fresh projects of more than passing significance. The urge to exploit or promote exceptional talents, skills or ideas, may push to high adventure. Yet a confused or complicated state of mind could have power to "becloud the issue" or create unsound involvements. Rash moves, wild impulses, reckless behavior could result in strife, accident, sorrow and loss.

A child born on this day while energetic, creative and ambitious, could overdo it, as the emotions rather than calm judgment could lead into difficulties and regrets.

Great numbers of women cut their hair short in 1948 in spite of protests by men.

Variety of Foods Offered

Even the most imaginative of housewives shouldn't expect her favorite recipes to keep those masculine appetites whetted forever. The geographical position of her grocer and the limitations of her new-fashioned kitchen are bound to affect the supply of country-style foods which men love.

You can, however, have delivered to your door by express such old-favorite delicacies as: succulent, country-cured hams; savory Jack Pot Beans flavored with brown sugar, spices, and onions; country-style, stone-ground buckwheat flour for griddle cakes and the finest quality Vermont maple sap syrup.

From Dallas, Texas, to Bucks County, Pa., there are farms which will express to your home zesty, dilled wax beans, hickory-smoked Canadian bacon or Pennsylvania Dutch apple-butter—and they're recommended, with addresses and prices in the January issue of House Beautiful. It's a simple way to load your pantry shelves with taste thrills for the family and guests alike.

Business Owners View Lower Sales Tax Returns as Warning

Trend Could Crimp Aid To Schools

Receipts Fall Off 6 Per Cent

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The Ohio businessmen s sales tax barometer is falling It may be a storm warning

Figures released today by State Treasurer Don H. Ebright confirm reports the retail trend has turned down since mid-year. Christmas holiday trade figures when compiled aren't expected to check the drift.

Ohio's three percent sales tax is a major source of money to pay for operating the state government Any persistent decline could have widespread effects

Such a trend, if continued, might crimp various plans to demand of the new state legislature more aid for local governments, schools, welfare programs, pensions and the like

Payments to the state by merchants and others buying sales tax stamps still are ahead of last year But the rate of gain has dropped sharply since mid-1948, Ebright pointed out

He attributes this to a combination of business slack and removal of the one-cent sales tax on purchases under 41 cents, starting last Aug 1

The year-end total probably will be about $142,000,000, up some $13,000 000 from 1947's $129,007 00 That's more than an 11 percent jump

But sales tax payments for the first seven months of 1948, before the one-cent change gained about 18 percent over the corresponding 1947 period The gain for the last four and a half months, after the one-cent change, was only four percent

Estimating the amount which would have been collected through Dec. 18 had the full tax remained, the probable gain would have been more than 10 percent. This business slack accounted for a six percent drop in the rate of gain since Aug 1, it was explained.

Sales tax payments for the week ended Dec 18 totaled $3,467 799 a drop of only $39 117 below the $3,506,916 for the same 1947 week The drop was about $500,000 for the previous week, however Total payments this year through Dec 18 were $123 678,433, compared with $110 983,302 for the same period last year

A study of the various sales tax classifications shows that only the automotive and building groups held up against the trend The biggest drop was in food, followed by chain and apparel stores.

Should business volume continue its trend of the last half year into 1949, Ebright said a corresponding drop in the sales tax rate of gain will follow Businessmen don't exactly expect a recessions but they are keeping close watch on the sales tax barometer for storm warnings

Pupils War On Comics

ST PAUL — (UP) — High school students have been called in as "consulting experts in St Paul's war on trashy-type comic books

A citizens comic book committee is writing a program to eliminate the more garish of this brand of literature from the reading fare of the city s younger set The high school students have been asked to evaluate the committees proposed set of standards for judging the quality of the books

The standards include the following points

1—Comic books should entertain, interest educate excite and stimulate in a wholesome manner

2—They should show respect for moral law, for religious racial and national groups and should emphasize the principles of U. S democracy

3—Characters should be such that if imitated by their readers they would contribute to the general welfare

4—Crime criminals and gore should not be made attractive police and law should be

Holiday Food Stocks Ample; Prices Stable

(By Associated Press)

Ham, the traditional dinner fare for New Year's day, is in plentiful supply across the nation this week.

Shoppers will find the prices approximately unchanged from the past couple of weeks, with smoked, ready to eat ham averaging from about 59 to 69 cents a pound.

Fresh ham, usually a few cents cheaper, also is at an average minimum of around 59 cents a pound Food spokesmen say this price is "about as close to the retailers' break-even point as any meat now being sold"

Grocers in many cities also are featuring canned apple sauce this week to accompany that holiday ham The food is abundant at around 27 cents for two 20-ounce cans

Most meats and poultry are selling at approximately the same price levels as last week, including turkeys. Up a few cents a pound in some cities are cauliflower, brussels sprouts and snap beans

However, food prices as a whole are down considerably from the peak levels of last July. And John A. Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, said this week he thinks they will "stay down and may go even lower, provided labor and transportation costs, which constitute a large part of the retail price of food, do not get out of hand."

The food chain executive in a year-end statement, added

"Consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables has already fallen off 5 per cent and in some commodities and regions farm prices are getting perilously close to the cost of production.

"The situation calls for teamwork on the part of producers, distributors and official agricultural agencies to reduce waste, improve grading and packing practices, and so streamline distribution as to narrow the spread between farm and retail prices."

The meat packing industry expects meat output in this country to increase slightly in the coming year over 1948. But John F. Krey, chairman of the American Meat institute, says each person's share will be somewhat smaller because of a population increase.

Annual Let Down In America Seen Essential as Man's Safety Valve

NEW YORK—This is the anuual lost week of mankind—the week of the big let down.

I mean, of course, in America.

It is during this week that America is in a big essential sense the least like a foreigner would expect.

He would come here prepared to find the wealthiest people in the wealthiest nation—a nation that has spread its wealth deeper and farther among more people than any of the other so-named civilized nations—geared to the machine.

But he would find that these people are out of tune with the machine. Their pulse has lost the tempo. He would find — this foreign visitor—that this is the week when the vast mechanism that is America slows down.

It is the time when the "circuit breaker" operates. It also could be called in the language of Detroit "mental retooling week."

It comes always at the same time—the week between Christmas and the New Year.

It is the time when the slowdown of the production output is only partly measured by the holidays men take from their jobs.

Neither can it be measured by the extra alcohol that some consume nor by the extra days that they take away from their tasks. In addition, in many cases, to their regular holidays.

There is a human factor that cannot be shown accurately on any chart or graph. This is the adjustment that takes place in their souls at the annual season of good will.

It is the time of letdown. It is the rest period that any productive equipment, man or metal, must have—else it collapses.

Certainly it is a strange and mixed time, confusing beyond any other period. For it is in this week that a man, relaxed by a feeling of well being, looks toward the goals his race could really achieve—by living nearer to his religion all year round.

It is also, unfortunately, the time when many new annual business contracts are let, contracts that determine the year ahead. Many old men who have run the machine—their own particular machine—are quietly given their walking papers. The newspapers are full of details of new promotions. But for most promotions there is a heartbreak—as well as a heart leap.

Somebody gains...somebody loses...and either way a man wants to keep the lights shining on his Christmas tree just a few more days.

The big man, the middle man, the small man—Papa Bear Mama Bear, Baby Bear—they all are prisoners. They are victims of a new failure or a strange success, something to make them live differently. The new year always has a fresh burden or responsibility to be shouldered.

It isn't a bad thing at all—this letdown. Every system has to permit it. Even in the cycle of the stars the astronomers allow for—a leap year. Man is a creature that has to leap sometime, too.

Christmas is only the small opening in a closed circle the world will open wider as it wisens.

Traces 1948 News Wherein Nazi, Fascist Elements Scored Wins

TYPEWRITER DOODLING

No wonder everyone is looking forward to a happier New Year. Look at some of the things that happened during 1948. Ilse Koch of lampshade infamy had her life sentence commuted; Tojo of Pearl Harbor infamy got his execution postponed; pro-fascist Serge Lifar staged a recital at NY's City Center; pro-ditto Kirsten Flagstad played Carnazi Hall 5 days after Pearl Harbor's ann'y; and Dictator Franco was embraced by ex-New Dealer Jim Farley.

Hjalmar Schacht, who financed the Nazis, was exonerated by a denazification court as not being a Nazi; and to top it all, our allegedly most upright magazine, Time, was being edited by an ex-Communist!

Nothing as disgraceful as the un-American Committee's attempt to smear the good name of Laurence Duggan. That committee defames innocent and patriotic Americans—but hasn't done anything about the KKK. Shameful.

Because of the Whittaker Chambers affair, Henry Luce's "March of Time" had to recall its Christmas cards. The cards featured a globe of the world (with film strips protruding), and it looked like a pumpkin.

The holier-than-thou goons who feign horror at reporters who publish gossip fave us an opportunity to revive a statement that once appeared in a country weekly: "If you get born, marry, have a baby, die, or some other accident happens to you, please let us know—not that we give a darn, but most of our readers have a lot of curiosity." That explains our position expertly.

The news photo showing a 19-year-old refugee weeping with joy when he arrived in the USA strummed the heartstrings. His mother, father, two brothers and two sisters were murdered at Buchenwald. The photo should contain this grim thought: Yet Ilse Koch had her sentence commuted!

The pig-tailed darling in the film, "Enchantment," named Gigi Perreau, is the most lovable and talented moppet to hit the screen since Margaret O'Brien cuddled up to your heart...Have a slice of lunacy: Leni Riefenstahl headed the Nazi film industry. She was Hitler's "honey." But a denazification court acquitted her—higher salary before the Nazis rose to power. Sheer idiocy.

Front pages revealed France has built its first atomic pile—an important step toward concocting the A-bomb. But an item at the end of that story gives us shudders: The leader of atomic research in France—is a Communist.

2 Suspects In Burglary Bound Over

Held To Jury In Camera Thefts

Two Mansfield men were bound over to the grand jury today on charges growing out of the Christman Eve theft of $487 worth of photographic equipment from the Perez-Smucker Studio, 45 North Mulberry street.

Kenneth W. Rodgers of Trailer City, pleaded innocent to a charge of breaking and enterind and was held under $2,000 bond.

Glen R. Jacobs of the DeSoto hotel, pleaded innocent to a charge of receiving stolen property and was held under $1,000.

CHARGES LISTED

The affidavit against Rodgers charged he stole a 35 mm. Kodak worth $30.88; a Franklin movie camera, $77.68; a Crown Graphic, $132.25; a Cine-Kodak movie camera, $100; a Filmo movie camera, $51.33; a Kodak tourist camera, $28.71; a Revere 8 mm. movie camera, $46.82 and a Weston exposure meter, $19.78.

Police said all of the stolen property had been recovered.

The burglary at the photographic studio was discovered by police while on routine patrol early Christmas day. The pair was arrested later in the day.

In other cases, Jay W. Cannon, 253½ North Main street, pleaded innocent to an assault and battery charge brought by Opal Barker, 171 Orange street. Hearing was set for tomorrow and a bond of $1,000 was set.

Jeanne Adams, 957 Herring avenue, pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to yield they right-of-way. She was fined $10 and costs. The fine was suspended.

In traffic court yesterday, $10 fines were assessed against Richard Anderson, 188 Cleveland avenue, for unsafe operation, and Arnold Murry of Ontario for speeding.

Estate Set At $35,114

An inventory of the estate of the late L. H. Beam, Mansfield attorney, filed yesterday in Probate court, placed its value at $35,114.

Major part of the estate consisted of $32,042 in stocks and securities, including $13,680 of Mansfield Savings Trust National Bank stock and $7,112 worth of stock in the Mansfield Provident company.

Also listed was $2,968 in U. S. Savings bonds, and $46,695 in savings accounts, both of which were in the name of Mr. Beam and his wife.

These were listed for inheritance tax purposes and were not included in the inventory.

Mr. Beam's will left his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Lulu F. Beam, who was appointed administratrix of the estate with will annexed.

Mrs. Frank Durham surveys the wreckage wrought by an earthquake which struck the town of Verdi, Nev., yesterday, knocking down walls, breaking windows and spilling canned goods off shelves. The shocks, apparently centering at Reno, Nev., extended through the Sierra into northern California as far west as San Francisco and as far south as Fresno in the San Joaquin valley.—(AP Wirephoto)

Sheriff Holds Six Following Robbery

A 28-year-old Indiana man was beaten and left unconscious on a road near Lucas last night after he was robbed of his wallet containing $20 and some change.

The victim was identified by sheriff's deputies as Robert Harris, 28, of Terre Haute, Ind., who had arrived in Mansfield yesterday and taken a job. Deputies are holding six men in connection with the attack.

Harris told deputies he met four men in a night club last night and from there he left with them for another tavern. However, instead of going there, the driver continued to a point near Lucas.

LEFT UNCONSCIOUS

There, Harris told deputies, he was taken out of the car, beaten up and kicked and left unconscious. A passing motorist called the Byerly funeral home of Lucas, which sent out an ambulance. Harris was treated by a Lucas physician for cuts and bruises.

After getting a description of his assailants from Harris, Deputies Harold Marvin and Charles Wheeler apprehended four men at a tavern. Later, they apprehended two more who arrived at the tavern. Harris said there were two soldiers with him.

Deputies said there was one soldier in the first group of four they picked up and one soldier in the second group of two they apprehended. Deputies said Harris' wallet was found in one of two cars used by the suspects.

Donald B. Woodward, vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, said:

The Mansfield post office is trying to find out which Hunter family sent a Christmas remembrance to a mail carrier. An envelope addressed simply "to our mailman, wishing him a merry Christmas from the Hunters," was received at the post office Dec. 22. Since there are a number of Hunter families in Mansfield on various routes, the post office doesn't know which carrier the envelope was intended for. If the Hunters who sent the envelope will contact the post office, the envelope will be delivered to the proper carrier.

OFFERS PROOF—

There are no "ifs, ands, or buts" in this matter. Early this week, a High street woman signed an affidavit charging her husband with assault and battery. The case was continued several times. Yesterday, the woman appeared at the Municipal court office and told Paul Ritchie, court clerk, that she wanted to drop the charges inasmuch as she intended to get a divorce to settle the fighting once and for all. "I am absolutely through with marriage." she said. And to prove it, she took out her marriage license and tore it to shreds!

Business Owners View Lower Sales Tax Returns as Warning

Trend Could Crimp Aid To Schools

Receipts Fall Off 6 Per Cent

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The Ohio businessmen's sales tax barometer is falling. It may be a storm warning.

Figures released today by State Treasurer Don H. Ebright confirm reports the retail trend has turned down since mid-year. Christmas holiday trade figures when compiled aren't expected to check the drift.

Ohio's three percent sales tax is a major source of money to pay for operating the state government. Any persistent decline could have widespread effects.

Such a trend, if continued, might crimp various plans to demand of the new state legislature more aid for local governments, schools, welfare programs, pensions and the like.

Payments to the state by merchants and others buying sales tax stamps still are ahead of last year. But the rate of gain has dropped sharply since mid-1948, Ebright pointed out.

He attributes this to a combination of business slack and removal of the one-cent sales tax on purchases under 41 cents, starting last Aug. 1.

The year-end total probably will be about $142,000,000, up some $13,000,000 from 1947's $129,007,00. That's more than an 11 percent jump.

But sales tax payments for the first seven months of 1948, before the one-cent change, gained about 18 percent over the corresponding 1947 period. The gain for the last four and a half months, after the one-cent change, was only four percent.

Estimating the amount which would have been collected through Dec. 18 had the full tax remained, the probable gain would have been more than 10 percent. This business slack accounted for a six percent drop in the rate of gain since Aug. 1, it was explained.

Sales tax payments for the week ended Dec. 18 totaled $3,467,799, a drop of only $39,117 below the $3,506,916 for the same 1947 week. The drop was about $500,000 for the previous week, however. Total payments this year through Dec. 18 were $123,678,433, compared with $110,983,302 for the same period last year.

A study of the various sales tax classifications shows that only the automotive and building groups held up against the trend. The biggest drop was in food, followed by chain and apparel stores.

Should business volume continue its trend of the last half year into 1949, Ebright said a corresponding drop in the sales tax rate of gain will follow. Businessmen don't exactly expect a recessions but they are keeping close watch on the sales tax barometer for storm warnings.

Pupils War On Comics

ST. PAUL — (U.P.) — High school students have been called in as "consulting experts" in St. Paul's war on trashy-type comic books.

A citizen's comic book committee is writing a program to eliminate the more garish of this brand of literature from the reading fare of the city's younger set. The high school students have been asked to evaluate the committee's proposed set of standards for judging the quality of the books.

The standards include the following points:

1.—Comic books should entertain, interest, educate, excite and stimulate in a "wholesome" manner.

2.—They should show respect for moral law; for religious, racial and national groups; and should emphasize the principles of U. S. democracy.

3.—Characters should be such that if imitated by their readers, they would contribute to the general welfare.

4.—Crime, criminals and gore should not be made attractive; police and law should be.

Sees Job Decline

Holiday Food Stocks Ample; Prices Stable

(By Associated Press)

Ham, the traditional dinner fare for New Year's day, is in plentiful supply across the nation this week.

Shoppers will find the prices approximately unchanged from the past couple of weeks, with smoked, ready to eat ham averaging from about 59 to 69 cents a pound.

Fresh ham, usually a few cents cheaper, also is at an average minimum of around 59 cents a pound. Food spokesmen say this price is "about as close to the retailers' break-even point as any meat now being sold."

Grocers in many cities also are featuring canned apple sauce this week to accompany that holiday ham. The food is abundant at around 27 cents for two 20-ounce cans.

Most meats and poultry are selling at approximately the same price levels as last week, including turkeys. Up a few cents a pound in some cities are cauliflower, brussels sprouts and snap beans.

However, food prices as a whole are down considerably from the peak levels of last July. And John A. Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, said this week he thinks they will "stay down and may go even lower, provided labor and transportation costs, which constitute a large part of the retail price of food, do not get out of hand."

The food chain executive in a year-end statement, added:

"Consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables has already fallen off 5 per cent and in some commodities and regions farm prices are getting perilously close to the cost of production.

"The situation calls for teamwork on the part of producers, distributors and official agricultural agencies to reduce waste, improve grading and packing practices, and so streamline distribution as to narrow the spread between farm and retail prices."

The meat packing industry expects meat output in this country to increase slightly in the coming year over 1948. But John F. Krey, chairman of the American Meat Institute, says each person's share will be somewhat smaller because of a population increase.
